Disputed Bid To Cook

. . . Olson Construction Argues Against NU Action

By NANCY RAY
Star Staff Writer

Cook Construction Co. of Lincoln was awarded the general construction contract for the University of Nebraska ag college library after Regents spent over an hour listening to the legal pros and cons of the decision.

Cook's low bid of $634,456 was disputed by the next lowest bidder, Olson Construction Co., as not complying with the bidding instructions, and, thus, not eligible for consideration.

Olson, who bid $643,831 on the general contract, contended the Cook bid should be thrown out because Cook failed to submit prices on alternate construction features of pre-cast concrete exteriors and for concrete benches and window boxes.

Attorney Richard Smith represented the Olson firm at Friday's Regents meeting, and Attorney C. M. Pierson spoke for the Cook firm's interests. The University's legal representative Charles Oldfather told the board that he recommended the Cook bid be considered if the Regents decided against the inclusion of the alternative projects.

Smith noted that "as taxpayers" the Olson firm could start legal proceedings.

The $1.2 million building will be built on the eastern side of the ag college complex, south of the biochemistry building.

Outer walls will be of mosaic tile and no interior partitions will be used. Large expanses of glass will be used on the exterior walls, with a roof overhang to protect the second-floor reading areas.

Other contracts for the building, not in dispute and awarded to the lowest bidder, were:

—Mechanical: Newberg & Brookstrom, Lincoln, $142,152.
—Electrical: Modern Electric, Lincoln, $152,400.
—Elevator: O'Keefe Elevator Co., Inc., Omaha, $10,950.

Bids were submitted Nov. 14, but letting was held up until the University's legal counsel could investigate the Olson firm's claim against Cook.

New York Papers Not Struck Yet

New York (Saturday) (AP)—Publishers of New York City's 9 major newspapers submitted a new contract offer today to one of two craft unions which had threatened a strike.

Terms of the offer, made to the Newspaper Deliverers' Union and announced an hour after the union's strike deadline, were not made public.

The union had set a strike for midnight Friday.

Last night, newspaper printers had singled out 4 papers for a 2 a.m. (EST) strike—the Times, News, World-Telegram & Sun, and the Journal-American.

Asher W. Schwartz, counsel for the Deliverers, told reporters as he rushed between meetings in a downtown hotel:

"We are still negotiating. We are not on strike."

Bertram A. Powers, president of Local 6 of the International Typographical Union, the printers, said last night that the union had rejected a package offered by the 9 newspapers, and would strike the 4 unless it was resolved.

In August of 1960, Kennedy toured the vast installation as the Democratic presidential candidate.

However, SAC officials termed Kennedy's latest visit "much more thorough than the first one."

From here, the President was off to inspect atomic installations in New Mexico. He left Offutt 40 minutes behind schedule, or at 1:35 p.m.

Cuba Aid By SAC 'Unparalleled'—JFK

'War Room' Visited

Greetings Warm On Omaha Trip

By GENE BUDIG
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Omaha — Icy winds and gusting, light snow didn't cool the warmth of President Kennedy's message Friday.

More than 600 persons listened as he thanked the Strategic Air Command for its "unparalleled" performance in the Cuban crisis.

"We're indebted to you all in the past, now, and our security depends on you in the future. Thank you very much," he said.

The chief executive presented Gen. Thomas Power, SAC commander, with a special plaque, commending the vast bomber force for flying 20 million miles without a single accident during the 30-day Cuban alert.

'Intensive Efforts'

"This noteworthy achievement reflects the intensive efforts extended by all personnel of the Strategic Air Command," he noted.

Kennedy's remarks came after inspecting the nerve center of America's retaliatory striking force against nuclear attack.

Led by Power and Lt. Gen. Hunter Harris, vice commander of SAC, the President descended deep into the earth to check the global communications network.

Much of the briefing was held in the "war room."

From this room the SAC force would be launched in time of war.

Red, Gold Telephones

By picking up a red telephone, the senior SAC controller can speak directly to more than 80 subordinate command posts spread across the northern hemisphere.

Through this system, each SAC base receives notice of alerts from coded messages.

Another telephone, gold in color, gives the controller a direct line to the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington and to other major command headquarters.

Through a radio network called "Short Order," the command post can contact SAC's tactical aircraft in flight over any part of the world.

Principal purpose of this system is to exercise "positive control," the procedure which insures that this nation's bombers will not attack unless specifically ordered by the President.

The control room in which the presidential party was briefed is 140 feet long, 39 feet wide and 21 feet high.

Also touring the war room was Vice President Lyndon Johnson, who arrived at Offutt Air Force Base 15 minutes before the President.

Gov. Frank Morrison met both planes.

Friday's SAC visit wasn't the first for the chief executive.

In August of 1960, Kennedy toured the vast installation as the Democratic presidential candidate.

However, SAC officials termed Kennedy's latest visit "much more thorough than the first one."

From here, the President was off to inspect atomic installations in New Mexico. He left Offutt 40 minutes behind schedule, or at 1:35 p.m.

United States To Insist That Soviet Troops Leave Cuba

From Press Dispatches

Washington — The United States will insist that Russia remove the bulk of several thousand Soviet troops from Cuba now that offensive missiles and bombers have been taken out, informed sources said Friday.

For the moment, however, the administration was not pressing the troop issue with the Soviets, because Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has indicated he intends to remove them of his own accord.

President Kennedy told his last news conference Nov. 20 that U.S. intelligence had a few days earlier discovered the presence of "Soviet ground combat units" in Cuba.

Was Informed

Kennedy said the United States was "informed" these troops were "associated with the protection of offensive weapons systems and will also be withdrawn in due course."

Kennedy did not say so, but it is now known he was informed of Russia's intention in a letter from Khrushchev.

U.S. officials have not pressed the troop issue while first the missiles and the bombers were being removed from Cuba. They preferred to take things on a step-by-step basis.

Up to 13,000

Intelligence estimates of the number of Soviet troops placed in Cuba during the weapons buildup, which began in mid-July and led to the October Cuban crisis, run up to 13,000.

These included missile technicians and even laborers, since the Russians did not let the Cubans do any work on the medium and intermediate range missile sites — even ditchdigging.

These Soviet troops were not included in Kennedy's original list of "offensive" Soviet forces which he demanded must go. Nor were they covered by the Oct. 26-28 Kennedy-Khrushchev exchange of letters agreeing to settlement of the Cuban crisis.

But the United States is unlikely to be willing to tolerate any substantial number of Soviet forces remaining anywhere in the Western Hemisphere.

Cuban exile intelligence channels say that Soviet military technicians in Cuba have continued work on Cuban military defenses including building of airstrips and underground fortifications.

But U.S. sources said they had no independent confirmation of these activities.

Go On Indefinitely

U.S. aerial reconnaissance of Cuba is continuing, and officials have made clear they are prepared to continue such flights indefinitely. This country also continues to insist on international on-site inspection to firmly verify that all Soviet offensive weapons are out of Cuba.

U.S. officials also stated that various reports have been received from anti-Castro exiles of construction of underground fortifications in Cuba being undertaken by Soviet troops. But they said they have as yet no hard, significant information on this.

The United States would like to see, in addition to removal of Soviet troops from Cuba, a dismantling of anti-aircraft missile sites set up there shortly before arrival of the long-range missiles and bombers. Also still in Cuba are an estimated 100 MIG fighters, 8 short-range missiles capable of attacking the U.S. Naval base at Guantanamo in eastern Cuba, and other weapons from the communist bloc.

U.S. informants said Russia gave assurance of removal of their weapons in categorical terms. They expressed the opinion that Moscow means what it says this time because it does not want to get caught in a nuclear deception again.

No A-Bomb Seen

Actually, it is acknowledged by U.S. officials that American intelligence never has discovered a nuclear warhead in Cuba. But they said the Soviet missiles would have been militarily meaningless without atomic payloads.

In terms of Russian ability to deliver a nuclear strike against the United States, it was estimated that the 42 missiles now withdrawn from Cuba in effect would have doubled the atomic threat posed by an estimated Russian intercontinental ballistic missile force of 70 long range rockets based in the Soviet Union.

Rescue Of Miners Is Moving Slowly

Carmichaels, Pa. (AP)—Rescue crews made a vital left turn Friday in a tunnel toward 37 coal miners trapped 650 feet underground by a shattering blast.

"Our progress should be speedier assuming we don't run into problems more than we encountered before," said James Girod, assistant mine superintendent in charge of rescue operations.

The rescue crews, laboring in the second day of operations, have moved to within 4,700 feet, and possibly 3,000 feet of the trapped men.

After making some 200 feet of progress, the crews ran into a fall in the tunnel some 15 to 16 feet square.

Girod said they also found a few small fires, most of them from shoring supports.

A surprise visitor to the disaster area was Bishop John J. Wright, head of the Pittsburgh Roman Catholic diocese.

The bishop, just back from Rome, where he attended the Ecumenical Council, chatted with the grieving families and shook hands.

There was no way of knowing if the men were alive — or dead.

Originally, it was believed that 36 miners were trapped, but U.S. Steel Corp. raised the figure to 37 after rechecking its records.

The miners haven't been heard from since the gas and coal dust explosion cornered them Thursday in a corridor of U.S. Steel's Robena No. 3 mine near this southwestern Pennsylvania town, about 50 miles southwest of Pittsburgh.

Workers had to build up apparatus to generate fresh air and draw out carbon monoxide and methane gas found in the tunnel as they maneuvered toward the men.

Lewis Evans, Pennsylvania secretary of mines, said the men stood a chance of surviving if they had time to construct a barricade sealing themselves off from the deadly gases.

Even if this were done, no one could say how long their oxygen could last.

U.S. To Prod Allies For Expansion

Washington (AP)—The United States will prod its NATO allies anew next week to expand substantially their non-nuclear military strength in Europe.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara are prepared to argue that greater conventional military strength deployed against Soviet power could in some future crisis save the world from nuclear war.

That is the lesson of the U.S.-Soviet crisis over Cuba, as interpreted here, which the Kennedy administration intends to present to the 15-nation NATO council in Paris next Thursday through Saturday.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, the other cabinet-level American delegate, will deal with economic and financial issues before the alliance, including problems of defense costs.

The NATO Council has two major strategic-political problems coming up at this session, neither new and both sources of irritation in U.S.-Western European relations for several years.

In addition there is also now a question whether NATO machinery should be reorganized to provide for faster consultation in emergencies. In the Cuban crisis Kennedy decided without consultation what the United States would do, then informed Allied governments.

One of the two great basic issues is whether there should be a NATO nuclear force in Europe under some kind of European control.

Informants said Rusk and McNamara plan to take the position that the United States is satisfied with the present system of American control of its own nuclear striking force as the ultimate shield for defense of the West. But the United States is ready now, as it has been since the late years of the Eisenhower administration, to consider any proposal the European governments wish to make for creating a NATO-European nuclear force.

Funds For NU Said Future Investment

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The University of Nebraska's proposed budget of $36.9 million in general funds for 1963-65 is "a blueprint of what the University can do for Nebraska and Nebraska people—a proposal for further investment in the future of this state."

That's what Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin told Gov. Frank Morrison Friday in presenting the University's budget request — which seeks an increase of $8.9 million from the property tax.

State May Get More Snow

Occasional, light snow may scatter through central Nebraska Saturday while weather remains cloudy and cool.

Highs are expected in the upper 30s around Lincoln to 35 and 40 across the rest of the state.

A ridge of high pressure now extends from Alaska down over western Canada through the plains. Part of the build of high pressure is from the Pacific high pressure area that built in over the plains as the Pacific cold front moved through eastern Nebraska and West Iowa around daybreak early Friday.

Saturday should show variable cloudiness through the two state area and temperatures should be likely very little different from Friday's high readings.

The state high Friday was 52 in McCook, with Lincoln reporting a high of 38. The state low was 24 at the Lincoln Air Force Base.

The Weather

LINCOLN: Variable cloudiness with little temperature change Saturday with high near 40. Partly cloudy and turning a little colder Saturday night with low around 20.

EAST AND CENTRAL NEBRASKA: Partly cloudy to cloudy Saturday and Sunday, colder extreme northeast Saturday night. High Saturdays in 30s for northeast to 40s south central.

20-Foot Snow Drifts Pile Up In East

Thousands Of Autos Are Stalled

...Many Schools Closed

By The Associated Press
A thick snow of midwinter proportions poured down Friday on a small section of the eastern United States amid biting, damaging winds that reached 70 miles an hour.

In some areas the fall hit 24 inches and drifts piled up to more than 20 feet. The temperature was mostly near freezing or a little below.

Vehicular traffic came to a standstill. Utility lines were downed by heavy snow and powerful winds. Thousands of cars were stalled by snow, ice or the hundreds of accidents the elements caused. Hundreds of schools were closed. Places of business and factories shut down for lack of workers.

Deaths Reported
At least 38 deaths were attributed to the storm, some in traffic accidents, some from overexertion in the wet, heavy snow.

The snowstorm started Thursday, swooping down on northern Indiana, then veered sharply to the East. It edged upward into New York state Friday and moved out over Lake Ontario later in the day.

Heaviest hit state in the storm's path was Ohio. Snow covered the entire state, from one-half inch upward to 24 inches.

In the Cleveland area, the snowfall measured about 15 inches and drifts piled up to 5 feet in depth.

At Bentleyville, also in Cuyahoga County, the snowfall reached 24 inches.

Other states hit by the snow and wind were West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland and Michigan. On the edge of the storm, Tennessee, Kentucky and Virginia also had snow.

State of Emergency

A state of emergency was called at Chagrin Falls and Brunswick, both in Ohio. Power failed at Chagrin Falls' water plant and roads into Brunswick became impassable when cars stalled in the snow clogged thoroughfares.

Some 40,000 families in the Cleveland area Friday still were without electric power, some since Thursday night. The utility lines were pulled down by heavy snow, ice and winds.

Snowfall in other Ohio communities included:

Kirtland Hills in Lake County 22 inches; Novelty, in Geauga County, 20 inches; Akron and Canton 13 inches; Ashland 10; Youngstown 9; Delaware 7 and Lima 6.

36 Inches In West Virginia
In West Virginia, a remote, mountainous section of Webster County received 36 inches of snow. Scores of other communities reported a fall of 12 inches.

Twenty-foot drifts piled up in isolated sections of West Virginia's mountains and many secondary roads were closed.

Up to 20 inches of snow fell over southwestern New York State. Scores of traffic accidents resulted; air and ground traffic was crippled and many schools were shut down.

Omaha Man Caught In Hold Up Try

Omaha (AP) — Omaha police captured a 49-year-old man Friday night as he attempted to hold up Don's Shoe Store, 311 S. 16th St.

Officers identified him as Clendon Harris.

Harris told officers that he had stolen a .32 caliber pistol from a car before entering the store.

Ray Backman, the clerk on duty, struggled with Harris while customers in the store called officials. Witnesses said that Backman was unable to pin Harris' gun hand.

Witnesses quoted Harris as saying: "Let go. I don't want to hurt you."

During questioning, Harris told officers that he didn't want to hurt anyone but had entered the store only to take money.

Vandals Wreck St. Nick's Igloo

Elizabeth, N.J. (AP) — Santa Claus was on vacation Friday because vandals, aided by high winds, destroyed his igloo.

The igloo, made of light plastic blocks, was erected in front of the Union County Court House by the Elizabeth Retail Merchants Association as a place for children to meet Santa.

But vandals ripped the doors off the igloo and strong winds completed the destruction early Friday.

There's a chance Santa and the igloo might return before Christmas, however. The igloo was insured for $1,000 and it will be rebuilt if time permits.

106 KNOWN DEAD IN LONDON AREA

London (AP) — A gentle south wind Friday night freed London from the clutches of a poisonous smog which all but paralyzed the capital for 4 days and left 106 known dead and more than 1,000 in hospitals.

In the nation's worst fog foul-up since 1952 only the criminals had a carnival. For the smash-and-grab boys it was easy. No one could see and almost everyone — innocent and guilty — was wearing a mask. Raiders got away with thousands of pounds worth of jewelry, furs and radios.

Government weathermen warned patches of fog may come down again during the night, but predicted most of England should be clear soon after dawn Saturday.

Danger Persists

But despite Friday's blue skies in central London, smoke in the air at noon was still 6 times denser than normal and the sulphur dioxide content 7 times greater.

Old people and those with respiratory ailments were the hardest hit. Hospitals throughout southern England kept hundreds of beds ready for additional cases.

Road, rail, air and waterborne traffic began to speed up. As Thames shipping began moving again 4 vessels were in collision in the Estuary. No one was hurt.

The Automobile Association reported it dealt with 20,000 breakdown calls during the long blackout.

"A big thank-you is due to many people who went out of their way to be helpful — to bus drivers who acted as pathfinders, to school crossing patrols who took up positions with torches, and to road gangs who were out early sanding the roads," said a spokesman.

TRAINER CRASHES IN DENMARK; TWO U.S. FLIERS KILLED

Copenhagen, Denmark (AP) — A U.S. trainer plane crashed into a house in dense fog near Aalborg Airport Friday, the Danish Air Force Command announced, killing two American airmen aboard.

The plane, on a flight from West Germany, was approaching the airport for landing when it hit the farm house and burst into flames. No one in the house was injured.

Names of the two Americans were withheld pending notification of relatives.

London (AP) — The fog was so bad in east London Thursday night the birds were walking, which is why Malcolm Lodge is stuck with a duck.

The fog lifted Friday, but the duck declined to leave.

Burglars Take Cash, Eat Snack

Two burglars who broke into the home of Mabel C. Clements at 1649 Vine and took $40 Friday night didn't leave the job with empty stomachs.

According to investigating detectives Frank Soukup and Delmar Carlson, the intruders also drank two glasses of milk, and ate 4 slices of bread and some cranberries.

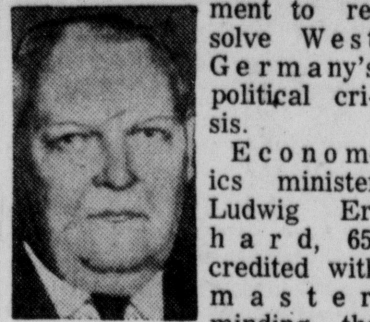

The money was taken from a purse in the bedroom, the detectives said, but the thieves didn't bother to wash their milk glasses before leaving, or to clean up the flour they had spilled in the living room.

Entry was gained by breaking the latch on a screen door opening onto a back porch and then forcing the kitchen door open with a bar.

Reluctantly-Adenauer Promises To Retire

... NEXT FALL

Bonn, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's reluctant promise to retire next fall cleared the way Friday for a new coalition government to resolve West Germany's political crisis.

Erhard, 65, credited with a "miracle" that raised the nation from war ruins to unprecedented prosperity, is in line to take over when Adenauer steps down.

The 86-year-old chancellor had fought any limit on his tenure in office. His decision to give up was announced Friday by the parliamentary floor leader of his Christian Democratic Party, Heinrich Von Brentano, but no exact resignation date was set.

Four-Year Term

Adenauer was elected to a 4-year term by the Bundestag (Parliament) after last fall's general election, but he could be removed by a majority of the members. This made it possible for him to ignore pressure for his resignation commitment.

The strong-willed, unbending old man, has dominated West Germany's politics since the nation was created 13 years ago. He has stood for a close alliance with the United States, determined opposition to the communist East Bloc, and a new Europe made strong and prosperous through the Common Market.

Erhard, 65, now the overwhelming choice of the Christian Democratic Party to succeed Adenauer, generally supports these policies.

Adenauer's tenure became a main issue in the government crisis which grew out of the 6-week-old Der Spiegel affair. He was partly blamed for the way this treason action against a news magazine turned into a national controversy that brought widespread criticism of the government.

British Woman Who Passed Papers To Lover Gets 2 Years

London (AP) — Auburn-haired aristocrat Barbara Fell, descended from some of Britain's proudest families, was sentenced Friday to two years imprisonment for handing confidential government documents to her lover, a Yugoslav diplomat.

Miss Fell, former acting controller of the Central Information Office, stood impassively in the dock at the Old Bailey as the wigged judge told her severely:

"It is no more than the truth to say that you have completely broken the trust that was imposed in you."

Oxford-Educated

The Oxford-educated, 54-year-old civil servant seemed bewildered as sentence was imposed, but straightened and walked steadily and alone down the steps from the prisoner's box to the cells below.

The prosecution emphasized that her case did not involve official secrets and was nothing like that of convicted Soviet spy William John Vassall or other recent security cases.

Scotland Yard's special branch (counter intelligence) praised her "hitherto impeccable" former press officer she had given every possible assistance in preparing the case against herself. The charges, 8 of them, were that she had passed on to Smiljan Pejck, former press officer of the Yugoslav Embassy here, assessments of the political situation in Yugoslavia from Britain's ambassador to Belgrade, M. J. Cresswell.

Mistress of Diplomacy

The offenses took place between 1959 and 1961, during which time, Miss Fell admitted, she was Pejck's mistress.

The defense called Miss Fell an extremely patriotic woman—"an anti-communist as anyone in this country"—who considered Pejck pro-Western and believed reading the confidential documents would make him even more so. Her lawyer told the court Friday "she still has no reason to think she was wrong."

Governor's Office Walls Won't Be Pink; Wife Changes Mind

Concord, N.H. (AP) — Governor-elect John W. King said Friday the walls of his state-house office are going to be green—not pink. He informed painters his wife had changed his mind.

The workmen spent 3 days this week giving the office a fresh coat of pink paint. This was on orders of Gov. Wesley Powell, with King's advance approval.

But Friday the governor-elect said his wife informed him the pink does not match the wild plum of the new rugs in the executive chambers.

So it's going to be light green.

U.S. 6 Crash Kills 2

On Slick Overpass
At Edge Of Hastings

Hastings (P) — Larry R. Trautman, about 18, and Dale M. Kassenbaum, about 21, both of Geneva, were killed late Thursday night in a car-truck crash on the Highway 6 overpass at the east edge of Hastings.

Investigating officers said the car containing the pair was headed north on a road made slippery by snow and spun in front of a semitrailer which hit it broadside. The car was demolished.

Trucker Unhurt
The truck driver, who escaped injury, was identified as Lester Ferguson of Fairmont.

In a chain of accidents which followed the crash, a car coming up the hill and seeing the accident attempted to turn around, and was struck from behind. A State Safety Patrol car was struck by an ambulance.

The deaths raised the state highway fatality toll for the year to 373, compared with 302 a year ago.

Two Women Hurt On Icy Overpass

Aurora (P) — Two women were listed in fair condition at an Aurora hospital Friday with injuries suffered in a two-car crash on an icy overpass 3 miles west of Aurora Thursday night.

The sheriff's office said the cars were driven by Mrs. Alma V. Cunningham, 72, of Grand Island and Einer Palmberg, 54, of Aurora.

Officers said Mrs. Cunningham's westbound auto hit an icy spot on the overpass on U.S. 34, went out of control and into the path of Palmberg's car.

Mrs. Cunningham and Mrs. Palmberg were injured.

Saunders Co. Drive To Aid CROP Appeal

Christmas will come early in Saunders County this year. On Sunday, Dec. 9, church people of the county will unite in an unusual county-wide program of giving in which they will collect cash and commodity gifts for CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program).

The Saunders County appeal could turn out to be one of the best county-wide CROP appeals in the country, the CROP regional director, R. Theodore Holland, said.

Holland said that local leaders in the county expect to have 300 men working in congregations throughout the county collecting cash or commodities for CROP. Monsignor Daniel E. Cooper, Wahoo, is county chairman. Vice chairman is the Rev. Frank Freeman, Malmo, and George Harnett, Wahoo, is the campaign director.

Holland, who has been working with county groups in 14 Nebraska counties, said the Saunders group has divided the county into 24 communities for the appeal.

Men's Reformatory Transfer Slated For Kearney Escapee

Kearney (P)—Dennis Bailiff, 16, of Fremont will be transferred to the Men's Reformatory at Lincoln, Boys Training School Superintendent Bill Ettinger said Friday.

Ettinger said permission had been obtained from George Morris, state institutions director, to transfer Bailiff on grounds of incorrigibility.

County Attorney Bob Munro decided not to prosecute the youth in connection with one successful and another unsuccessful escape attempt within the past few days from the Boys Training School.

Bailiff escaped Tuesday and was captured in Omaha Wednesday in a stolen car.

Bailiff and Don Smith of Hastings were confined in a

Eidam Asks Aid For Argentina

Omaha (P) — John E. Eidam, president of the Omaha Bank for Co-Operatives, was back home Friday after heading a 3-man team that studied Argentine Agricultural Credit for the Agency for International Development.

Eidam said the political instability and the farm credit "crisis" in that country made him "real proud" of his institutions and government by contrast.

"People in the AID and the Alliance for Progress are basically doing a very good job in developing the basic philosophy of helping them (Latin Americans) to help themselves," Eidam said.

He recommended a loan to Argentina of $25 million to establish an agricultural credit bank and what would correspond to our production credit associations.

Such a loan, if acceptable to the Argentines, would carry the insistence that they provide $10 million, and would be repaid to the United States over a 25-year period.

Eidam further suggested that Argentina send experts to the U.S. to learn credit bank management and that Americans advise the PCA's in Argentina.

guest speaker at the dedication.

Guest speaker at the regular 10:50 a.m. services Sunday will be the Rev. Carl A. Burkhardt Jr., pastor of the Bethany Christian Church at Lincoln.

Organized in '92
The Christian Church congregation here was organized in 1892, and had a church building on the northwest corner at Third and Eddy Streets from 1903 until August last year. The church also maintained a parish house on the southeast corner of Third and Eddy.

Services had been held in the Grand Theater on Sunday mornings until last week, following demolition of the former church building. The church continued to hold Sunday school and maintain offices at the parish house.

The Rev. Volney Lofgreen has been pastor of the First Christian Church here for 5 years. Russell Fickes is chairman of the building committee for the new church, and Ralph Herndon is chairman of the church board.

The brick structure includes a nave which seats about 410 persons at worship services. Groundbreaking services for the new church were held on Oct. 22, 1961.

Included in the new structure are 13 Sunday school rooms, arranged in departmental order; a Fellowship Hall, which seats 200 persons; an adjacent Friendship Room, seating 125 persons, which may be opened onto the hall as an overflow room; a kitchen and nursery.

Also included are separate offices for the Sunday school superintendent, pastor, and church secretary; a conference room; soundproof choir rehearsal room; two rooms for baptismal services; a communion preparation room; supply room, and 4 mechanical rooms.

Open house will be observed at the church the following Sunday, Dec. 16, from 2 to 5 p.m.

Customs Bloc World's Top Trading Unit

... Says Hallstein

Omaha (P) — The European Common Market must seek only "world solutions" to the problems which confront it, the Common Market's principal spokesman said Friday night.

Nebraska News

Dr. Walter Hallstein, president of the Commission of the European Economic Community, said the Common Market countries "are doing what we do for ourselves and for the free world as a whole by the most peaceful means conceivable."

In an address before a Creighton University audience, Dr. Hallstein said the 6-nation customs bloc is now the world's largest trading unit. With eventual accession of Great Britain, he said, it will pass the United States in population and approach its productive capacity.

Thus the two entities in an Atlantic trade partnership already conduct the overwhelming majority of world trade, and eventually will command the most important sources of capital for world development, he added.

"No nations possessed of these strengths could take a casual view of their relationship with the rest of the world," he said.

"The core of the partnership is the mutual ability of each partner to enter into tariff negotiations aiming at the fullest possible — in some instances perhaps total — reduction of customs duties," he declared.

"The anticipated stimulation of trade ... should yield solid economic benefits to all nations affected by the exercise," he said.

Duncan Pleads Innocent; Held Without Bail

North Platte (P)—Plea of innocent to a second degree murder charge was entered Friday by Henry Duncan, 50, of North Platte.

He was arraigned before County Judge Oscar Sandall in connection with the shooting Nov. 27 of Jessie Junior Crabtree, 33, of Rome, Ga.

Preliminary hearing was set for Dec. 14 and Duncan was held without bail.

After his arrest, Duncan told officers he had struggled with Crabtree for a rifle and the weapon discharged, after which Crabtree walked down the street. His body was found the next morning.

Who Runs The Show?

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

A member of the State Normal Board, Bernard Spencer of Nebraska City, has raised a question on budgeting that is of growing importance. He has stated that if the Legislature is going to run the state teachers colleges in detail through its budgeting procedures, then there is no need for the board. The question comes up because of the extent to which the budget committee of the Legislature, under the guiding hand of Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, has gone into the fine points of various operations.

If the point made by Spencer is a legitimate one, then the same thing can be said for the University of Nebraska Board of Regents. There would be no need for this board, either, if the Legislature is going to decide everything with its appropriation of money. There, of course, is not unanimous agreement on the legitimacy of Spencer's position. There is no firm agreement as to how far the budget committee of the Legislature should go in its deliberations and some question as to exactly what its actions in the past have constituted.

There is no question, however, that the committee has assumed a greater role in the affairs of the state than has ever been the case in the past. The distinctions involved in this matter are somewhat difficult to draw. Essentially, the question involves a difference between legislative and administrative action. It is the job of the Legislature to provide the framework of government and the job of the administration to perform its work within that framework.

Thus, the Legislature is called upon to provide the money with which all administrative officers must work. In doing this, it is obligated to see to it that it appropriates only enough money as is needed to do the job that is demanded. It has a responsibility to see to it that the administrative arm of government does not impose a tax burden that is greater than the state's ability to pay.

But it is at this point that the fine lines begin to become apparent. The further into the affairs of state business the budget committee goes, the more it becomes an administrator. The greater the budget breakdown it insists upon, the further it encroaches upon the administration of state business. The more it appropriates in detail, the more it sets the final pattern of what the administration shall be. There is no question that a budget committee needs a basic amount of information in order to make an intelligent opinion. But how much knowledge is it expected to have? Is the committee expected to know as much about the operation of the teachers colleges as does the Normal Board and the heads of the four institutions?

Is the committee expected to know as much about the University of Nebraska as does the Board of Regents, the chancellor and others? And in fact, is the committee expected to know even more than these groups and individuals about the various institutions of higher learning? Even the Normal Board, the Board of Regents, the chancellor of the university, the heads of the colleges and department heads below them are not 100 per cent aware of everything under their command. There is a point in all of this at which the administrator is expected to rely upon the judgment, integrity and ability of those under him.

In the same way, the budget committee and the Legislature are not supposed to assume the responsibilities of boards governing our various educational institutions. It cannot be set forth in black and white, in rule form, just exactly what the committee should and should not do. No specific line can be drawn beyond which the committee is not expected to go.

This is something that the committee itself has to keep in mind and attempt to work out to the satisfaction and best interests of all concerned. But the committee will make a mistake if it attempts to go too far in stipulating the exact nature of spending that is to be done by the institutions and by all state agencies.

In going too far, the committee will undermine the administration of state affairs to the point where it will begin to crumble. Along with this danger is the fact that the committee is not competent enough nor does it have time enough to fill the role of an administrator or an advisory board. If errors of judgment are consistent within the administration of state business, this should be corrected by administration changes, not by the budget committee or the Legislature assuming administrative functions and responsibilities. Such a system may have some weaknesses but it is the kind of system we have and the alternatives are even weaker.

Certainly, the worst thing of all would be a single arm of government that exercised absolute and dictatorial control over all the affairs of the state. Spencer's fears or expressions have some foundation in past experience and future expectations. It is hoped that the budget committee of the Legislature gives careful thought to this subject when it makes its 1963 deliberations.

Lack Of Time And Ability

Articulate Visitor

Nebraska is appreciative of the visit of Dr. Walter Hallstein of Germany and his clear and understandable exposition of the workings, the character, the meaning and the aspirations of the European Common Market. He speaks authoritatively for he is chairman of the common market commission.

His words brought a detached Nebraska into the forefront of world events and he gave an accurate estimation of just where this agricultural belt stands in the picture. He clearly described Europe as an integrating economy headed inevitably toward political union. What he is saying is that Europe is returning to the world scene as a major force through the ending of its balkanization. We can take comfort that the new Europe will be on our side. But the pecking order will inevitably change. Our problem, a friendly one, will be one of transition from a divided Europe at our convenience to one of finding our place in the western family of powers more as an equal than as a sponsor.

As to agricultural America he said, "You and all non member countries will be treated equally, but how you will be treated will depend on just what is good for us."

That is more or less our point of view now. It is only disturbing when a friend and associate says it. There is no need to rush to the parapets.

There is nothing in his words that says American agriculture is going to get done in. There is just a piece of good, cool advice telling us that our principle task is to set our domestic agricultural house in order and to view a progressing outside world with confidence. An advancing, prosperous area overseas means more people more deeply in the market. What reasonable discipline may come to bear on our exports should be more than offset by the greater demand of a prospering people.

Stevenson Affair

Not only the protests of Adlai Stevenson but most of the record deflated the piece of gee-whizz journalism in which a national magazine article asserted that the UN representative attempted to make another Munich out of the Cuban crisis and had clashed seriously with his boss, the President of the United States.

Stevenson declared he was grossly misrepresented and he was backed up by a statement of strong praise from the White House.

Ambassador Stevenson seems to have ridden through his moment of trouble still holding on to his political life. But no one can receive bad report without carrying scars.

Magazines must be considered a part of the American press although many people confine their conception of that to newspapers. But it bodes the press ill to play loose with the fact when a catchy story is concerned and then make such a case for the fact in the name of press freedom.

Press freedom is not the property of the purveyors of news and report. It belongs to the people who can be as badly injured by the cavalier handling of facts as by official sources which seek to withhold facts.

In the case of Stevenson the public now will not know for certain how much of an ingredient of fact the article contained nor how fully injured he was. There are two versions and the element of the credibility of the witness has been injected. The sum of it all is that the public has sustained a defeat which it has not merited.

Editorial Of The Day

Hydromicrobiogeo—What?

From The Denver Post
Help! We're smothering in a topographical avalanche of unhyphenated words. Chemistry and medicine are — to date — the big offenders. In the small print on the label of a popular brand of throat lozenges we note that each wafer, small as it, contains (take a deep breath, now) diiodoxymercuriresorcinsulfonphthalein-sodium.

The printers may have to hyphenate that one a bit to squeeze it into these columns, yet a disgruntled is expected to read it at a glance.

But why pick on the drug people? Engineers in the power industry are assaulting us with such eye-jerkers as magnetohydrodynamics.

Even geologists are making wisecracks about it, and that means it's really serious. The current issue of The AIBS Bulletin, (American Institute of Biological Sciences) reprints the following "interdisciplinary" item from the July-August issue of Geotitles:

hydromicrobiogeochemist — One who studies small underwater flora and their relationship to underlying rock strata by using chemical methods.

microhydrobiogeochemist — One who studies flora in very small bodies of water and their relationship to underlying rock strata by using chemical methods.

microbiogeochemist — One who studies small flora and their relationship to underlying rock strata by using chemical methods and SCUBA equipment.

After re-reading the above (pardon the hyphen) we're beginning to suspect that someone is pulling our leg.

Heartfelt Response From Those Helped

WASHINGTON—From the little people whom Eleanor Roosevelt befriended, thousands of suggestions have poured in to Chinese Refugee Relief for an appropriate inscription to go over the door of the proposed Eleanor Roosevelt Memorial Center in Hong Kong.

The relief group is raising funds to build a living memorial to Mrs. Roosevelt, a refugee center to be devoted to training Chinese refugees for their new life in the free world.

Before she died, Mrs. Roosevelt was anxious to let the Chinese masses know they were not being forgotten, and sought to do this by befriending the refugees who managed to slip through the barbed wire along the Hong Kong border in their search for food and freedom.

Mrs. Roosevelt is not here to read the letter, but the outpouring of affection from all 50 states in support of the idea of a memorial in Hong Kong would have warmed her heart.

A World War II veteran, William Knox, wrote from Plattville, Wis.: "I'll never forget the time Mrs. Roosevelt visited the hospital wards in Florida during World War II. She walked through with such simple nobleness, calm dignity, and shared feeling. What she stood for are the eternal things."

Wrote Mrs. He Hung Barbee, a Korean refugee now safe in Los Angeles: "Well do I know the warm heart of noble individuals who devote their efforts to helping those who have lost all hope, and Mrs. Roosevelt has made hope possible to those who need it most throughout the world."

There was even the widow's mite, a three-cent contribution from Mrs. Elaine Draper of St. Joseph, Mo., who wrote: "I'm sorry I can't contribute more. I am unemployed now and I have a small son to support."

She suggested that the inscription over the memorial center should read: "The open arms."

"I was a child during World War II, but I always noticed pictures of Mrs. Roosevelt with arms out in welcome," Mrs. Draper explained.

Mrs. Prince Hawkins of Reno, Nev., wanted to engrave over the door the simple words, "She loved people."

But Mrs. Hawkins declined any interest in the prize for the best inscription—a free trip to Hong Kong to attend the center's opening. "I am 89," she explained, "and my traveling days are over."

A woman from West Palm Beach, Fla., who asked that her generosity remain anonymous, offered: "Having been a refugee from Europe, I know about the hardships these people are going through, and I have decided that in case of my death, I would bequeath a portion of my estate to this cause."

A 12-year-old boy, Roger English of La Jolla, Calif., suggested this inscription: "On and on they come in masses of great number, their hopeful faces lifted, to Help, to Hope, to Home."

New York Undismayed At California's Growth

NEW YORK—It is difficult for this New Yorker to understand why the state of California is so gleeful about surpassing New York in the population explosion business. Governor Brown's citizenry is overjoyed, according to what we read here, to overtake New York in its record for being overpopulated.

New Yorkers have remained officially silent. California assumes it's because of our deep distress, but I think it's because we're awed at the wondrous miracle that has taken place and we're quietly praying that more and more Easterners will go West so we can one day clap our hands in joy—without knocking some kid off the curb.

To me, the statistical honor of being the most-populated state in the Union is about as much cause for hearty self-congratulation as the birth of quintuplets to a mother of 12 living in a one-room tenement. But directors of chambers of commerce traditionally think it's peachy to see their cities or states, once quiet and lovely and sparse with contented cows and people, suddenly booming with business and building.

And it's the chamber of commerce folks, rather than the crowded, discontented cows and people, who issue joyous proclamations and plan parades.

It's all psychological, of course, but since California has leapt ahead of us in population, life seems easier in

New York. The neighbors on one side of us have moved away (to the Golden West) leaving a splendid deathly silence in the bedroom. The streets seem wider, the monoxide milder, the trucks smaller.

I felt even better when I read about the San Diego boy, Scott Turner, 7, who wrote to President Kennedy about how he went out to hunt lizards one day and found his lizard-land had been taken over by a housing project. "Could you set aside some land where we could play?" he requested plaintively.

Secretary of Interior Udall answered on behalf of the President, and his answer was sweet propaganda, indeed. He said Mr. Kennedy agreed that it was necessary to be able to hunt lizards and follow ants, and that the administration is "trying" to set aside some land for Scott and boys like him to play on—all alone.

But you know and I know, even if Scott doesn't, that the President of the United States has more friends among the chamber of commerce and the governor's staff than among the little lizard people. It is hard to believe that Scott will get any real satisfaction as long as he lives in the fastest-growing state in the Union.

Secretary Udall's heart is in the right place. But Scott's home isn't.

Come East, young man. Come to New York—the prairie of the future!

By EARL DYER

A new attempt to solve the old problem of housing for Lincoln's minority race families is having some success.

It's not the kind of brilliant success that means all of Lincoln's Negro and Indian, and Mexican families suddenly can get the housing they want and are able to pay for, far from that. There isn't any quick, easy solution.

But the success is measurable. And it is being accomplished by the good old method — plain, plodding hard work by people who have decided that because a problem is difficult is no reason to ignore it.

Action Coordinating Team (ACT) started the new project several weeks ago. The outline was simple: minority group persons seeking housing would be referred to a central office (the Lincoln Council of Churches volunteered to do the book work), which would then refer each case to the social action committee of a Lincoln church. That committee would then go to work to meet the specific problem of the specific family.

Eight church committees volunteered to help the project; five cases of need have been reported — one of them involving a family in which wife and children had returned to the South because no home was available.

The work done by individual committees didn't result in direct benefit to the families those committees were trying to help — or at least hasn't yet. But the work done in the total project has uncovered several real estate agents willing to handle property for Negroes outside the "ghetto" into which most of Lincoln's Negro people are crowded, and several individual properties were found, and these are being matched up with Negroes needing housing.

In at least one case a family now has housing that would have lacked a home without the project.

Even these small results have involved a lot of work. One church committee alone made well over 100 telephone calls, talking to landlords to try to convince them that color of skin doesn't label some tenants good and others bad. In addition that committee visited rental properties and agents, and purchased advertising which helped locate vacancies.

ACT Chairman Dick Gilbert points out that this kind of work has real educational value to the community in addition to the specific housing found for families.

In the midst of the work is one man whose quiet labors over the years have been key to many varied projects, the Rev. Carroll Lemon, executive secretary of the Lincoln Council of Churches. The Rev. Mr. Lemon, who would properly point out that many others have done much, is the never obtrusive but ever present man when the cause of the dignity of human beings needs help.

Also plugging along without fanfare is another project. Modern Community Developers is building houses in a section in which one house will be sold to a minority family for each three white families. Mrs. Lois Weaver, president of MCD, reports two families—one Negro and one white—have moved in, another house is under construction, and a fourth is held up only by legal technicalities. There's a waiting list of Negro families anxious to build or buy.

Dead for all practical purposes is an earlier attempt — the housing desk at City Hall. It is still available but has no "live" listings. It died because landlords didn't list many properties and those listed were often rented before inquiries were made by minority group persons.

The fact is that Lincoln has a growing number of Negro people who hold good jobs, some of them in the professions. As education and economic opportunities widen — though ever so gradually — there will be more people of darker skin who need housing help but not charity. They can pay for what they need.

These people not only make good neighbors; they also will not put up with inferior housing. They can go elsewhere, and they have been doing just that. Most Negro graduates of our fine university leave the community because jobs and housing are not available. When any good person leaves Lincoln, regardless of his race, it is the community as a whole that loses.

The surveys done in the past have unequivocally shown the existence of a problem. Hats off to those who won't accept failure in meeting that problem.

Now what's needed is more of the real good will that will show itself in more apartments and houses being offered to minority groups and more neighbors who are willing to be neighbors regardless of race, creed or color.

Educational TV

Lincoln, Neb.

Never before in the history of this state has Nebraska had an opportunity to buy so much education for so little money. The Federal Communications Commission has assigned Nebraska channels for television that will make it possible to reach all the citizens of the state. Channel 12, KUON-TV, the university channel, has already made a ringing success for this section of the state. Thirty-four schools in this region are using this means to bring television to their classrooms. School superintendents are almost unanimous in asserting that this is a tool for education second only to the textbook. Students, for instance, can see moving forms of life shown only by the electronic microscope. For the teaching of science, nothing equal to TV has ever been found. And it can be used for every form of educational activity.

In the field of adult education, it is the perfect device.

Our university station, Channel 12, during the past year has presented some of the finest cultural programs that have ever been seen in the state. Personally, it seems to me that the long series of Shakespeare's "The Age of Kings" was simply priceless. Every Monday evening we have a really great theater presentation. Members of the university faculty send their educational messages as far as the station will reach. Visiting dignitaries are interviewed and their ideas scattered among our citizens in a big way. I was particularly struck on two evenings recently when local editors appeared and showed us how newspapers are produced.

Perhaps the most popular program of all has been the "Backyard Farmer," a program on agriculture and gardening by a panel of university professors, county agents, etc.

These evening programs on Channel 12 have been a priceless boon in the field of adult education and only the surface has been scratched. Like every other good thing, it will cost money. But not very much in proportion to the value received. For about 3% of the money we now spend for public school education, we could put in the whole works to reach every section of Nebraska. It is the biggest bargain in education ever offered the people of the state. I hope the Legislature will rise to the occasion in a big way.

Snow Job

Lincoln, Neb.

I was under the impression that we had already been hit with every conceivable kind of tax, including the additional $15,000 required to pay the salary of the upcoming strong mayor. However, the possibility of a snow tax to be paid for predicting the arrival of Nebraska blizzards was overlooked as a very remote probability.

But this probability has jelled into an authorization by the City Council to pay $750.00 for the services of a snow prognosticator. Of course, the best of these weather forecasts are like the stock market quotations — subject to change without notice. Weather forecasts are available at frequent intervals through services provided for free by our communications and news media.

We have survived for many years in Nebraska without a snow tax and I believe this $750.00 could be better wasted on some necessary project.

Proposed Bond Issue

Walton, Neb.

This is to explain about the high costs in our school district at Walton. We are paying more than a thousand dollars per high school student per year for teacher salaries alone. That compares with $600 last year, and the end is not in sight.

The sad part is that with a new school building, we would continue to be the black mark in education in Nebraska, with more taxes. Does this make sense?

DISGUSTED

Walton, Neb. While discussing the school situation and the $100,000 bond issue out here at Walton, one person made a remark that should go down in history with Marie Antoinette's famous "Let them eat cake." Confronted with the fact that the town of Walton pays only a very nominal real estate tax and that the farmers would bear the brunt of the huge debt, the remark was made that "these rich farmers can afford to pay more taxes — let them pay them."

If I rented or paid $60 or less in real estate taxes, I would vote for the bond issue, too, and let somebody else carry me around on their backs.

If this bond issue passes, there will be more than pigs squealing on these farms next year when the farmers discover just how much this bond issue and "improvements" are really going to cost them. We're asking for it.

There Are Many Advantages To Having A Will

By ROBERT PETERSON

There is no law that says you have to have a will. In fact, half of all Americans depart this world without one. But since it costs only $25 or so for a simple will to be drawn by an attorney, it's foolish not to make one. Having a will insures that your property will be distributed as you wish and tends to minimize legal snarls, delays and extra costs which frequently arise in settling even small estates. Here are some questions frequently raised in this connection: Q. "We're along in years and have no children. If I die, won't my modest assets automatically go to my wife? And, in the event she's not here, to my only other relative—a brother? And, if he's not here, to his two children? Would a will be of any advantage in my case?" A. It may be of no particular value—if your case is as simple and clear-cut as you say. But it is possible that a will would speed up inheritance proceedings; it may eliminate possible need for the court to require your executor to post a bond; and it may reduce certain court costs in probating the estate. Q. "I have assets of $20,000 and no immediate family. But I do have assorted brothers, aunts, cousins, nieces and nephews. If I make no will, what happens to my money when I die?" A. The various states have different provisions for distributing assets of those who die intestate, or without a will. In many states, the statutes provide that the estate of intestate deceased be distributed in this order: (1) to spouse and children, and if none (2) to living parents, and if none, (3) to living brothers and sisters, and if none (4) to living children of brothers and sisters. An attorney can give you the formula used in your state for distributing the estate of those who die intestate.

Q. "In my state, the property of a man who dies without a will is divided two-thirds to the children and one-third to the wife. As this sounds okay to me, and since all I own is a house and a few bonds, why should I bother to make a will?"

A. Unless you make a will specifically giving the house to your widow, it is possible that the court might require the house to be sold so that the value of the estate could be distributed on the percentage basis required by law. And if there are children under 21, the absence of a will would incur fees for a court-appointed guardian.

Q. "I'm a bachelor, 65, with an estate worth about $30,000. I'm alone and haven't a relative here or in my native Ireland. I don't care who gets what's left, so why bother with a will?"

A. Haven't you got a friend or neighbor you'd like to remember? Or can't you think of a church or charity that could use this money? Unless you make a will, the state will get whatever is left of your estate after a considerable sum has been drained off for (1) a court-appointed administrator, (2) advertising for possible heirs, both here and perhaps in Ireland, and (3) litigating the inevitable claims of those who will claim kinship. It makes infinitely more sense to have a simple will drawn which will minimize court expenses and insure that the bulk of your nest egg goes to a worthwhile recipient.

State Bars Sale Of 2 Loan Agencies' Stock

The State Banking Department Friday barred two California savings and loan associations from offering their stock for sale in Nebraska.

They are the World Savings and Loan Association, Lynwood, Calif., and the Trans-World Savings and Loan Association, Ontario, Calif.

Both were cited as having violated state building and loan laws.

Hoffa Asks Mistrial Declared; Shooting Incident 'Shocking'

Nashville, Tenn. (UPI) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa Friday asked for a mistrial on grounds that a courtroom shooting incident had caused him such "shock, stress, and strain" that he was unable to assist in the defense of the $1 million conspiracy charge against him.

Hoffa's sworn affidavit was attached to a motion for mistrial, which was filed in federal court late Friday afternoon.

Hoffa was shot with a pellet pistol Wednesday by a Washington, D.C., laborer as he sat in the courtroom. The Teamster chief said he was not physically hurt by the two pellets that struck him.

But he said he "is apprehensive of his own safety if this case should proceed further at this time." He said the attack caused such "shock, stress, and strain" on him that it would have an adverse effect upon his ability to "communicate fairly and fully with his counsel during the balance of this trial, and upon his capability of testifying fully and freely in his own defense."

The labor leader also said the witnesses he had planned to call in his behalf are "nervous and apprehensive, and therefore the defendant believes they would not testify freely and fully in this case."

Hoffa is on trial on charges of violating the Taft-Hartley law by accepting protection payoffs from a nationwide automobile transport firm, Commercial Carriers, Inc. He has pleaded innocent.

Affidavits from Hoffa's 4 attorneys and 3 witnesses, including one who was on the stand during the shooting, were also attached to the motion for a mistrial.

Heart Attacks
Attorney Danile Maher said he has had 6 or 7 mild heart attacks and a major heart attack in 1957. He said he had been under a "mental strain" since the incident and was "worried about his safety."

Attorney James Haggerty said he also suffered from a heart condition and the incident was a "severe emotional shock" to him.

Attorney William Bufalino said, "I do not feel that under the circumstances, I should be compelled to continue to participate, at this time, in the trial . . . that I consider myself emotionally not suitable to continue as an attorney in this case at this time in view of what has occurred."

Rocket's Failing To 'Destruct' Causes Suspension Of Tests

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP) — Range officials studied radio data Friday in an effort to learn why a safety system failed to destroy a runaway Polaris missile in what could have been a dangerous situation.

The Polaris went out of control during second-stage flight Thursday and the range safety officer sent a radio signal designed to ignite destructive dynamite packages in the solid-fuel rocket.

But the missile did not blow apart and the 12-foot long upper stage, with nose cone attached, suddenly curved about from a south-east to a northeast heading and traveled more than 300 miles before plummeting at 5,000 miles an hour into the Atlantic Ocean 150 miles east of Savannah, Ga.

The trouble apparently is peculiar to the Polaris. As technicians wrestled with the problem, a Minuteman — also a solid-fuel missile — biased out of an underground silo right on schedule and raced to a target 4,000 miles down range.

It was the second straight Minuteman success since a guidance computer problem forced a one-month delay in test firings in October.

A Polaris spokesman reported no more Polaris firings will take place at Cape Canaveral until the failure of Thursday's "destruct" system is analyzed and corrected.

$5.6 Million Of NU Budget Hike Said For Present Program

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The University of Nebraska has asked for an additional $8.9 million from the general fund for the next two years — $5.6 million of which would go toward maintaining present programs, with $3.3 million slated for growth and development.

Almost 70% of the total additional funds requested would go to 4 areas: College of Agriculture, $2,250,365; College of Arts and Sciences, $1,394,919; College of Medicine in Omaha, $2,177,065, and the Division of Buildings and Grounds, $947,542.

In presenting its budget request to Gov. Frank Morrison Friday, the University emphasized that the $2.1 million requested for the College of Medicine represents the first segment in a 10-year overall development program for that college and the University Hospital at Omaha.

Nebraska's medical educational system, they explained, is "seriously impaired by a shortage of teaching beds, by a lack of patients with diverse medical problems, and by a teaching faculty too small to perform satisfactorily a complete teaching function."

The University Hospital now has 145 beds — some 150 to 250 fewer than is required of a school the size of NU.

It is estimated that at least 12,000 patients were turned away from the hospital during the last year because beds and facilities were not available. About 4,000 patients were accepted for care.

The lack of beds limits the diversity of medical problems available for teaching, University officials noted.

As an example of its smaller than necessary teaching faculty, the University stated that in the 4 departments of clinical medicine, it has 8 full-time faculty members, compared with approximately 64 full-time faculty members in the same 4 departments at the University of Kansas.

The proposed budget increase would include the addition of 10 full-time faculty members: two in radiology, 5 in surgery, and 3 in internal medicine.

Dean E. F. Frolik of the College of Agriculture outlined to the governor the most detailed analysis of that college's proposed plans ever made during a budget presentation session.

He explained, specifically, how many additional personnel the college wants for various functions and told why the college believes it is necessary to add the people and develop the functions.

The $2.2 million requested reflects growth and development items of $856,184 for agricultural experiment stations, and extension service, an additional $100,500 for resident instruction — primarily as the result of increased enrollments — and the remainder would be for maintaining present programs in agriculture.

Generally speaking, the added funds would be used in 7 ways: to increase the efficiency of the present staff; continue the orderly and planned development of the field laboratory at Mead; give increased attention to economic development, marketing, and utilization; give increased attention to plant diseases and insect problems of the state; meet demands for additional home economics work over the state; increase outstate work, and inaugurate a program of teaching and research in wildlife management.

Of the College of Arts and Sciences added budget request of $1.3 million, $401,300 would go toward growth and development of instruction and department research.

A total of $201,840 is slated for University libraries in the growth and development budget to meet the need for "vital strengthening."

Good NU Faculty Said Key To Getting Research Grants

That key ingredient of the University of Nebraska — its faculty — was cited by NU officials Friday as the difference between obtaining or losing research grants for the state's main institution of higher education.

In answer to Gov. Frank Morrison's questions on how the University has fared in obtaining grants, Chancellor C. M. Hardin stated that 5 years ago the University had grants totaling $800,000 — today the figure has increased to $4.6 million.

Further increases are indicated for the next two years, Hardin said, adding that this shows the University has been developing a faculty which commands increasing respect.

2 Areas Cited

Morrison asked if they knew of specific grants which had been lost, and Hardin responded that NU definitely had been by-passed in grants for atomic reactor research, and in National Administration Space Agency funds because it did not have established faculty in these fields.

Vice Chancellor Roy G. Holly noted that NASA will have $1 billion available for university-related research projects during the coming year, and a larger figure than that the following year.

Strongest area for the University of Nebraska in obtaining grants, Hardin said, has been in the field of psychiatry — but it has been low in other fields of medicine.

NU's winning one of 3 U.S. grants for establishment of an English Curriculum Center also was cited by the chancellor.

Commenting on the general picture, Hardin said, "we have a few spots where we show up well and can compete, but these are just spots."

Hurt Low-Income Students

Morrison asked if the University had considered raising tuition fees to help with its increased budget, but NU regents indicated they opposed such an idea stating that current rates are "fairly average — higher than some," and that further increases would impair chances for lower-income youth to attend the institution.

The governor also asked how the University's faculty work load compared with other similar institutions, and was told that while statistical data was not available on a comparative basis, it was believed Nebraska's was as high or higher than those of other colleges in the area.

Hardin said that on the average, NU's work loads are "much higher than in recent years" largely because of the heavier enrollment.

Morrison asked each member of the Board of Regents his evaluation of the budget and where he thought it might be trimmed.

Each gave his "unequivocal" support to the request, and Dr. B. N. Greenberg of York said, "it might appall you to know how much the original budget was and how we've trimmed it. This is a skeleton budget."

Inducing To Prostitution Draws Fine

A former Lincoln woman was fined $50 in Municipal Court Friday after changing her plea to guilty on a charge of inducing for the purpose of prostitution.

Maxine Gray, 17, formerly of 2300 Lynn, was charged in connection with a police raid at her home Oct. 19, at which time another girl and 3 men were arrested.

The 3 men who were arrested also changed their pleas to guilty on charges of being inmates of a disorderly house. They were Donald Gray, Maxine's husband; Nay Vernon Morrison and James Ford. Each was fined $25.

Other Girl

The other girl, Juanita Wade, 17, of Huskerville, will stand trial at a later date, officials said. She pleaded innocent to a charge of inducing for the purpose of prostitution.

As Mr. and Mrs. Gray walked from the court room they were again arrested by Detective Edwin Kringel on order of County Attorney Paul Douglas and were taken immediately to County Court.

In County Court Mrs. Gray was charged with grand larceny. She pleaded innocent and was released on bond.

Larceny Charge

The grand larceny charge is a complaint charging her with selling furniture from her rented home prior to her moving to Kansas with the 3 men. The furniture belonged to her landlord.

Mrs. Gray, along with George B. Watley, John R. Smith and Vivian Newhouse, is awaiting trial on another charge of grand larceny filed in connection with several hundreds of dollars worth of goods being shoplifted from a downtown Lincoln store.

No date as yet has been set for that trial.

U.S. Helping Build Road To Mandalay

Washington (AP)—Burmese Ambassador On Sein reported "good progress" Friday on negotiations for a U.S. loan to help build a new road to Mandalay.

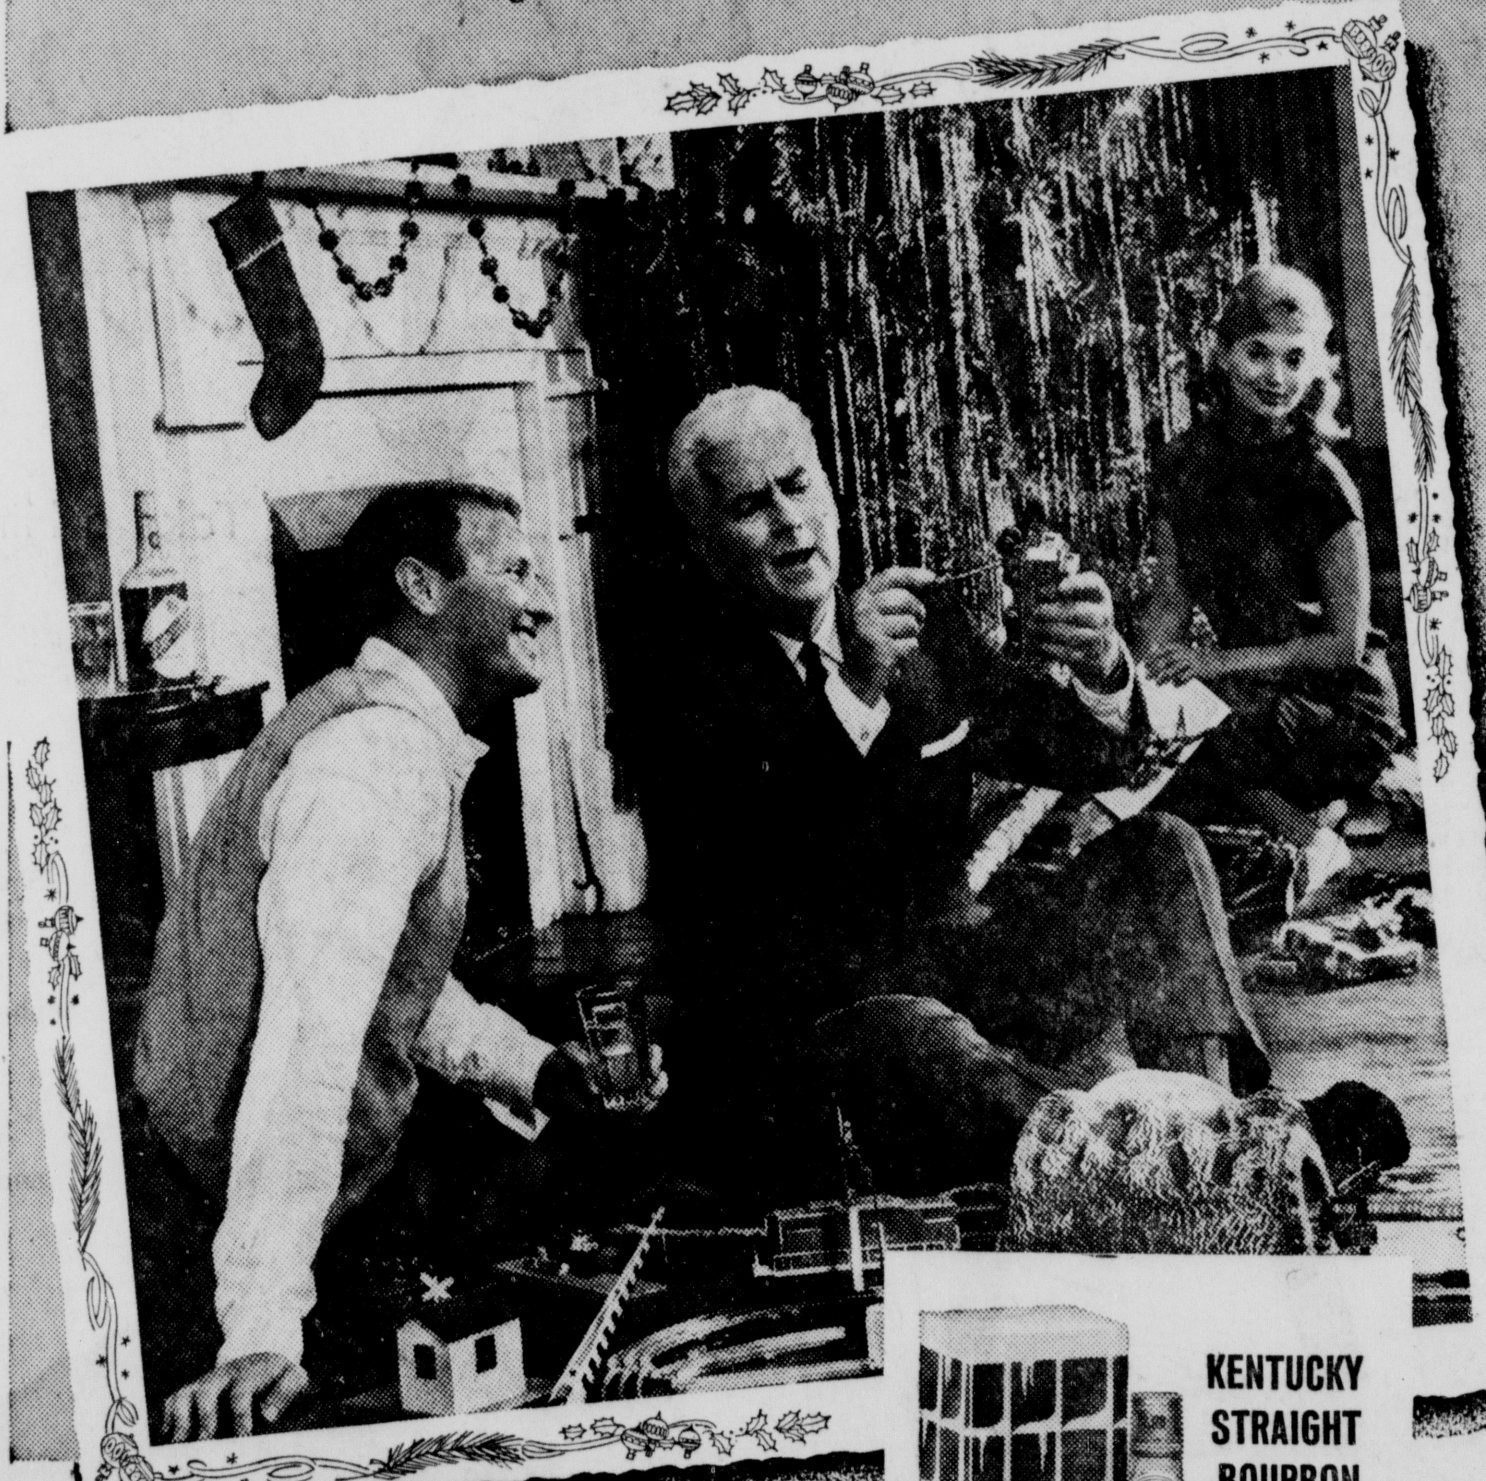

The celebrated song set to Rudyard Kipling's words on the road "where the dawn comes up like thunder" made no mention of the engineering difficulties that have held up agreement on a $28-million loan for more than 4 years.

The Burmese ambassador conferred with Assistant Secretary of State Averell Harriman and then said he is hopeful that a final agreement can be reached before the end of the year.

The road project involves a 400-mile stretch from Rangoon to Mandalay.

University Buying Property At 12th And Q St. Corner

... PURCHASE PRICE SET AT $225,000

The University of Nebraska took steps Friday to acquire one-third of a block of property at the northeast corner of 12th and Q streets for the purchase price of $225,000.

The Board of Regents approved negotiation of an agreement with the Consolidated Investment Company, owner of the 4½ lots adjacent to the university's city campus and directly south of Temple building.

Business Manager Carl Donaldson said the land is being acquired as a future building site, but that no definite plans have been made.

The land has a 225-foot front on Q street and a 150-foot front on 12th Street. About half of the property is the site of a one-story building, housing a printing shop, barber shop, and a used-car business. The other half is a parking area.

Mr. Donaldson said the business now occupying the building will be allowed to remain until definite use of the property is decided upon.

The board also authorized the sale of 4 lots in Omaha to the Bishop Clarkson Hospital for the price of $64,600. The property is located at the northwest corner of 42nd and Harney street.

In other action, the board: Approved the contract for a metal building at the Box Butte Experiment Station at Alliance to Lumir Peltz Construction Co. of Alliance, which submitted the low bid of $8,650.

Approved the low bid of $9,198 from the Sanborn Company of St. Paul, Minn., for an 8-channel thermal writing recording system. The machine, which will record velocity, temperature, and other factors at 8 different points simultaneously, will be used by Prof. Yurkut Saraykaya of engineering mechanics in his research on the measurement of forces on various shaped objects, such as missile-shaped and wing-shaped.

University Gets $900,000 In Grants, Gifts

The University of Nebraska accepted more than $900,000 in research grants, fellowships, and gifts Friday morning from outside sources.

The largest grant was one for $398,949 from the U.S. Public Health Service, to support the Mental Retardation Clinical Research Center, under the direction of Dr. Cecil Wittson, chairman of the university's department of neurology and psychiatry at the College of Medicine in Omaha.

Among the gifts was stock, valued at $10,000, from an anonymous donor for the benefit of the University State Museum.

The research grants included:

—$55,000 from the National Science Foundation, to support research in theoretical physics by Drs. Paul Goldhammer and Dr. H. S. Valk.

—$33,000 from the Nebraska Department of Agriculture and Inspection for research by Dr. John H. Lounquist in the breeding of high amylose hybrids for industrial utilization.

—$31,900 from the National Science Foundation for research by Dr. Allen R. Edison of the department of electrical engineering for the modeling of electromagnetic waves in a turbulent medium using acoustic waves in water.

Dr. Palmer Of NU Gives Up Business Research Post

Dr. Edgar Z. Palmer, who has kept track of Nebraska's retail sales for the past 15 years, will give up his position as director of the University of Nebraska's Bureau of Business Research on Feb. 1.

He will remain with the university as a member of the Nebraska Field Dr. Palmer Mission at Erzurum, Turkey, where the university is assisting the Turkish government in building Ataturk University.

The Board of Regents approved Friday the appointment of Dr. Palmer as professor of economics at Ataturk University.

A native of Pennsylvania, Dr. Palmer came to the University of Nebraska in 1946 as head of the department of business research in the College of Business Administration. Prior to that, he was a professor of economics at University of Kentucky for 18 years.

publication, "Business in Nebraska," which analyzes each month more than 800 retail sales reports from individual Nebraska businesses. The publication has a circulation of 8,000 copies.

Dr. Palmer said he began the sampling of retail sales in 1947 after the U.S. Department of Census discontinued its sampling on a state-wide basis in Nebraska.

Dr. Palmer's retirement from the directorship would have been mandatory next July because of age. Dean Charles S. Miller of the College of Business Administration said no successor to Dr. Palmer has been found as yet, but it is possible, he said, that an acting director would be named next month for the remainder of the school year.

Milan J. Kopac, professor at New York University, will join the University of Nebraska staff for the second semester as a visiting professor of zoology and physiology, lecturing at seminars.

Dr. Kopac received his B.S. and M.S. degrees from NU, and was awarded an honorary degree here last June.

Other Changes

In other personnel changes, the board accepted the resignation of Dr. J. William Holl, associate professor of mechanical engineering. A member of the faculty since 1959, he will accept a similar position on Feb. 2 at Pennsylvania State University.

The Board also awarded Faculty Summer Research Fellowships, valued at $1,000 each, to these staff members: Nicholas Babchuk, sociology; Louis Crompton, Ross Garner, L. T. Lemon, and James L. Roberts, all of English; Robert H. Hurlbutt, III, philosophy; Wallace C. Peterson, economics; Carl J. Schneider and Raphael Zariski, both of political science; Jessup M. Shively, microbiology; T. M. Christmas Party Time In Suburbia

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

It seems to be party time again in Country Club Terrace. Yes, coffees, showers, pre-game suppers, birthday parties, and Christmas parties are all in the news from this busy area.

One of those coffees was Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Stanley Schrier. Twelve guests were on hand for the informal gathering.

Mrs. Schrier, if you recall, has been hosting several coffees since moving into the new home on Twentieth Street, and we understand that she will be hosting several more in the near future.

Another coffee was hosted on Wednesday by Mrs. Otto Kovar, and we were told that Mrs. Kovar also has another coffee planned for the near future.

Wednesday's coffee initiated ed the round of holiday coffees for several of Mrs. Kovar's Woods Boulevard neighbors.

And from coffees we'll go to something connected with coffee — the kitchen. More specifically, it was a kitchen shower for a December bride-elect, and it was given Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Sam Finkle in Country Club Terrace.

The shower was for Miss Sharon Bernstein of Omaha, who is to marry Stanley D. Cohen of Lincoln on December 30, and the affair was co-hosted by Mrs. Finkle, Mrs. Jake Polick, and Mrs. Lou Sommerhauser.

Guests for the afternoon luncheon were friends and relatives of Miss Bernstein.

A birthday was celebrated last evening in the neighborhood, and it was that of little Miss Nancy Hudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald L. Hudson.

The party was an evening dessert celebration and it was to acknowledge Nancy's first birthday. Helping the tot celebrate were her parents and brothers, Gary and Jay, and her uncle and aunt and their family, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hudson and Bruce, Lynn, and Gail.

That pre-game supper we spoke of was hosted last night by Miss Lynn Grosscup at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buford M. Grosscup.

The supper for 35 of Lynn's Lincoln High classmates, preceded the Lincoln High-Abraham Lincoln basketball joust at the Public School Administration Building.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bucy and their children, Nancy and Scott, have moved from their Pace Boulevard home, but we're happy to tell you that they haven't moved from Country Club Terrace!

The new Bucy address is 3838 So. 20th, just a few blocks away from their former home. Welcome to Country Club Terrace again!

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Thornton and their little ones, Marcia, Shelley, Robert, Ned, and Phyllis, are off to Topeka, Kan., this morning for a short visit with relatives.

In Topeka, they'll be the guests of Mrs. Thornton's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Modlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Thornton and family will return to Lincoln tomorrow.

INDIAN HILLS

And it was Christmas party time in Indian Hills

last Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Virgil Schafer. This was Mrs. Schafer's church circle Christmas party, and the specially honored guests were four First Lutheran Church members who are residents at the Tabitha Home.

The 20 regular circle members and their four guests took potluck and then spent the evening singing carols and hearing the reading of "The Littlest Angel."

The evening was climaxed with a grab bag gift exchange.

Indian Hills has a new resident in the person of Miss Jill Christine Miller, the very young and very small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome C. Miller.

Jill, who was born Nov. 26 at Lincoln General, is Mr. and Mrs. Miller's first child, and her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Roland Miller of Yutan, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Slepicka of Tobias.

Mrs. Slepicka has been a combination house guest-mother's-helper this week at the Miller home, and she will be returning to Tobias today.

Earlier this week, Mrs. Miller's sister, Mrs. Darrel Eberspacher, of Seward, also was on hand for a peek at her new niece. Mrs. Eberspacher was at the Miller home from Monday until Wednesday.

Traveling to Lynch last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Connelly and their sons, Jay and Steven. In Lynch, they were the guests of Mrs. Connelly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jehorek.

Dear Abby

Nobody Cares About Your Age

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Why must one's age be printed on one's passport for all the world to see? This is a free country, isn't it? The year of my birth is my private business, so why should I be forced to have it revealed to every hotel clerk, customs officer and nosey person who want to know how old I am? I just never tell anybody. Could you please give me one good reason why AGE is important on a document of this kind? Who cares if you are a 22-year-old citizen or a 68-year-old citizen as long as you are a citizen?

OVER TWENTY-ONE

DEAR OVER: One's

"age" is necessary on a passport because it is a "vital" statistic which helps to identify the carrier. You would be terribly deflated if you knew how few people really cared (or noticed) "age" on a passport.

DEAR ABBY: Is it proper for a lady to ask a man to dance? My wife broke her leg two months ago, so she isn't able to dance. But she enjoys going to our club on Saturday night to watch the other people dance. A few women at the club have come over and asked me to dance with them. They have husbands, but they are wandering all over asking other women to dance. My wife says it is rude of me to refuse a lady when she asks me to dance, but I would feel like a fool dancing while my wife sat with her leg in a cast. I'd like your thinking.

CAN'T DECIDE

DEAR CAN'T: Only when it's "ladies' choice" is it proper for a woman to ask a man to dance. Even if your wife insists she doesn't mind, unless YOU really want to, decline their invitations and sit with your wife.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HURT": Never chase a lie; if you let it alone it will run itself to death.

Holiday Party For Newcomers

Members of one of Lincoln's newcomers clubs, the Capital City Newcomers, marked the opening of the holiday season on Friday evening at a Christmas dance held at the Legion

Committee members and their husbands pictured from the left, include: Mr. and Mrs. Gene Luchsinger (chairman); Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jochum; Mr. and Mrs. Don Handley; Mr. and Mrs.

Denis M. Grote; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Johnson.

Club officers are Mrs. Kirk W. Reimers, president; Mrs. Grote, vice president; Mrs. Fred Arndt, secretary; and Mrs. Larry C. Zieler, treasurer.

Annual Achievement Day Held

An exhibit of Christmas gifts and holiday decorations made by club members was a highlight of the annual Achievement Day of Lancaster County Home Extension Clubs, held Friday afternoon at the College of Agriculture.

Club members also were entertained with a program of Christmas music and a talk by Mrs. Frank Morrison. The program was followed by a tea.

Admiring the holiday table arrangements are (from the left) Mrs. G. F. Severson, Rt. 8, who with Mrs. Wayne Marolf of Waverly served as program chairman; Mrs. Orin Peterson, chairman of the Extension Club Council; and Mrs. Morrison. Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. Morrison are holding a velvet-clad figure of Santa Claus and Mrs. Claus, while Mrs. Severson holds an angel fashioned of gold mesh.

Dr. Wiltse Calls For 'New Breakthroughs In Education'

By JIM WOODSON
Star Staff Writer

A former president of the Nebraska State Education Association issued a call Friday night for better teachers and school administrators to accomplish "new breakthroughs in education."

Now superintendent of Maine Township High Schools at Des Plaines, Ill., Dr. Earl W. Wiltse aired his request before more than 100 NSEA delegates attending dedication ceremonies for the new $700,000 NSEA headquarters building at 14th and J.

Following a brief resume of the new structure's historical beginnings in early NSEA plans, Dr. Wiltse outlined some of the characteristics never found wanting in a master educator or administrator.

Right Teacher

He explained: "All of us know how important it is to get the right teacher. Suppose we combined the best we have known in all teachers—that would be that master teacher's attributes?"

instead. He is concerned about bringing the benefits of smallness into a setting of bigness."

These characteristics fit the school administrator equally well, the educator explained, and especially so as concerns constant reading to keep up knowledge.

Information Doubles

"Our information doubles every 5 years," he related. The delegates moved to an informal tour of the new building following the program. They are expected Saturday to act on 16 resolutions including: state aid to education, a broadened tax base, school district reorganization, teacher certification and support of federal aid to education.

City Labor Market Showed Downtrend During October

Labor market patterns for the Lincoln metropolitan area showed a downtrend during October due to seasonal decrease in the demand for workers, the employment division of the state department of labor reported this week.

Non-agricultural wage and salary employment was curtailed by 200, reflecting losses in construction, government and wholesale trade, while agricultural employment continued its downtrend with a loss of 100.

The volume of unemployment dropped by 300 between September and October, and the ratio of unemployment to total labor force was reduced to 1.9% during the month from a 2.3% level for September. The October 1961 ratio was 2.6%.

The job total in government was down 200 from September, largely due to the release of approximately 550 temporary Nebraska State Fair workers. Construction employment slackened by 300, while service workers increased ranks by 150 since mid-September due to an increase in school staffs following the opening of the fall term.

Marine Brigade Of About 9,000 Is On 'Way Back'

Washington (AP)—A Marine brigade of about 9,000 men is on its way back to California after service in the Caribbean area during the Cuban crisis, the corps announced.

This was the first official disclosure of the size of the Marine Force sent to the Caribbean and to the Guantanamo Naval Base in late October, when the United States was building up its military power to cope with a missile threat from Cuba.

The 5th Marine Expeditionary Brigade, traveling in 20 ships, began arriving at the Panama Canal 5 days ago, the announcement said.

The entire force, which totals 18,000 including Navy men, is expected to arrive in west coast ports from Dec. 11-16.

The expeditionary brigade, commanded by Brig. Gen. William T. Fairbourn, consists of 4 battalion landing teams, a helicopter squadron, and supporting units.

It was moved from the west coast to the Caribbean in ships of a Pacific Fleet amphibious task force.

Also headed back for California with the brigade is a battalion landing team flown directly into Guantanamo at the outset of the crisis.

Texan Reminded Of Pearl Harbor By Own Obituary

Austin, Tex. (AP)—Edward E. Shelton of Austin has a yellowed newspaper clipping to remind him of Pearl Harbor. It is his obituary.

Seaman I.C. Shelton was on the USS California when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. When the "abandon ship" order came he swam the 200 yards to Ford Island.

After the attack, Shelton, with a leg wound, answered muster aboard the California. However, through a clerical error he was reported to the Navy Department as lost in action.

Shelton's mother, Mrs. Francis Eugene Shelton, of Denton, received a telegram of sympathy that was sent Dec. 16 by Adm. C. W. Nimitz.

However, shortly afterwards she received a postcard that Shelton had mailed on Dec. 17.

It was not until Jan. 2, 1942, that Mrs. Shelton received another telegram from the Navy saying her son was alive.

Seeks $8 Million

Geneva (UPI)—The World Council of Churches is seeking more than $8 million from member churches for aid projects around the world in 1963, it was announced.

Happy Holidays
Start at Hinky Dinky

That critical hour when every woman and every man must have counsel will surely come. How important then to have made a path to the Church and to your pastor. Our ministers are serious and their counsel good. They are as near as your telephone. The minister knows how to help women and men know themselves. But better still, he knows the way of access to God. There is no comfort like that which comes from Heaven. Why not visit your church and let your pastor show you the way, in the light and will and gracious assistance of God. Heaven is not far away for the seeking soul. Jesus said, "Seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you."

—BALANCED SCORING ATTACK—

Lincoln High Tops Council Bluffs '5'

By DON SUMMERSIDE
Star Sports Writer

Lincoln High made its season debut with a balanced scoring attack Friday night to hand Council Bluffs Abraham Lincoln a 53-47 basketball defeat at the Public Schools Activities Building.

Clinging to a 4-point lead at halftime, the Links combined dominance in the rebound department with sporadic cold spells from the fast-breaking Council Bluffs quintet to move out to a 9-point margin after 3 quarters and then stand off a last-gasp effort by Abraham Lincoln in the closing minutes.

Lincoln High, outmaneuvering the taller Iowans under the boards, was under constant pressure from the Abraham Lincoln speed tactics.

The visitors moved down court time after time with a 3-on-one or 4-on-two but couldn't capitalize on the easy shots. And there were very few opportunities for a second offensive chance.

The first two periods saw both teams suffering from first-game shakes, but the Links, sparked by burly sophomore center, Frank Brill began to find the range in the 3rd period.

The 6-1 Brill hammered in a pair of tip-ins as Lincoln High scored 4 consecutive fielders in a matter of seconds to manage a 37-28 edge at the conclusion of the 3rd quarter.

Council Bluffs then went for slightly over 7 minutes in the last period without notching a score and the issue was settled.

Abe Lincoln put on a closing spurt to pull within 5 points with 1:51 remaining in the contest, but it was too little and too late.

Junior guard Bob Vasatka, a 5-8 140-pound mite, led the Links with 13 points, 9 of them at the charity stripe. Brill and senior forward Mike Glenn added 10 each.

The Abraham Lincoln cause was led by 6-5 senior Bill Wasinger with 19 points.

In reserve action, the young Links made it a clean sweep for the locals with a 54-40 decision over the Abe Lincoln reserves.

Uni High Rocks Geneva, 81-32

University High launched its 1962-63 basketball season in auspicious style Friday night.

All 13 players in suit scored from the field as coach Dale Snook's Tutors blasted Geneva, 81-32.

There was little doubt about the outcome of the game moments after the tip-off. The only question appeared to be the margin of victory.

Some subs played much longer than the starters as Snook swept the bench against his surprisingly weak visitors.

The University High starters were all on the bench with 2:05 remaining in the first half.

The only one to return to action in the second half was Gerald Butcher when it was discovered he hadn't scored.

During that brief early flurry veteran George Zarins poured in 16 points to grab game scoring honors.

Opening with Zarins and Butcher on the starting 5 were Jim Butcher, Steve Butts and Clair Cooley.

The starters rushed to a 19-6 first quarter margin and by halftime had a cushion of 41-9.

The eager substitutes actually offered very little relief for coach Archie Chapman's Wildcats.

At the end of the 3rd period Uni was in command, 58-17. Then Geneva came up with a 15 point final period. Dick Everts paced the losers attack with 8 points.

Senior Warren White contributed 10 points to the Tutor cause. The University High fans got their first look at Ron Schroeder. He is a smooth operating transfer from Ralston and only a sophomore. He got 6 points and played a lot of defense.

The University High reserves also won in a romp, 51-26.

St. Benedict's Hits Hastings

Hastings (H) — St. Benedict's of Kansas poured it on in the dying minutes to pull out a 61-54 victory over Hastings College Friday night.

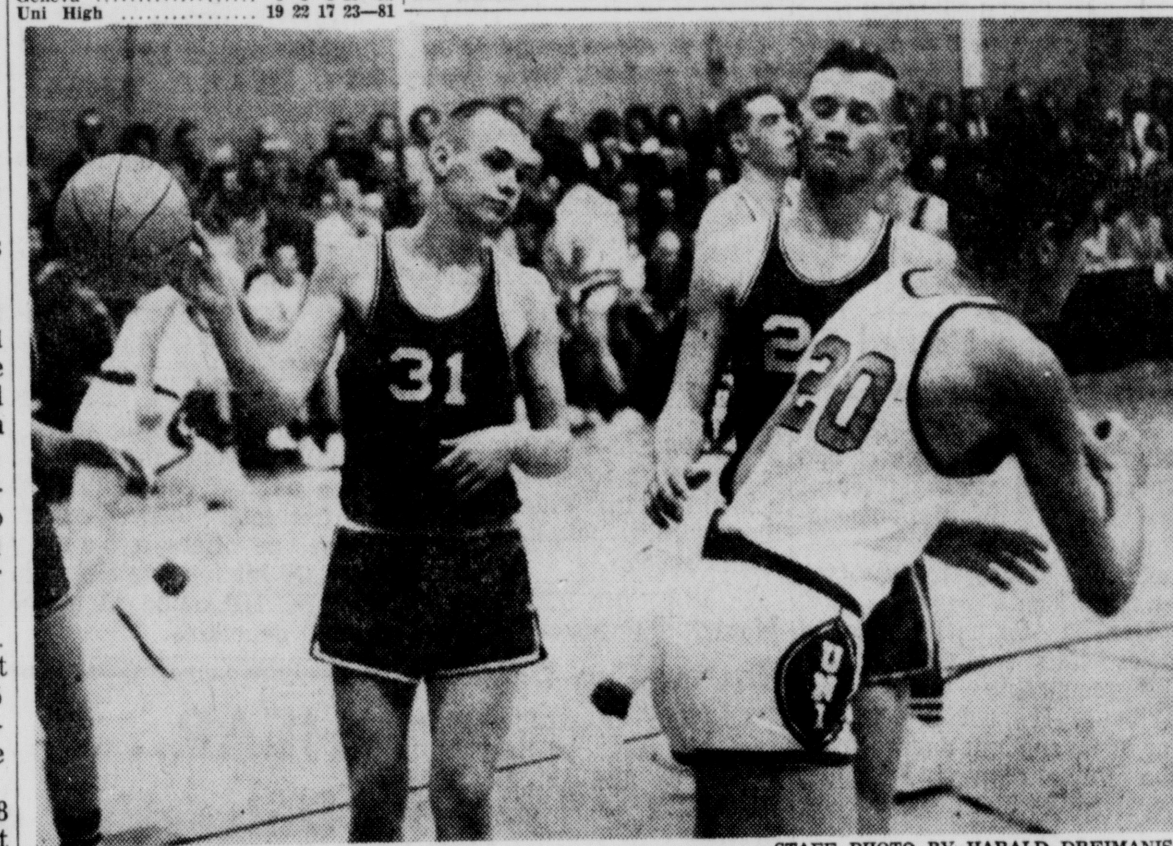

The host Hastings club held a 28-20 bulge at the half and it wasn't until 10 minutes were left that Mike McCotter tied it up for St. Benedict's with a layup.

McCotter followed immediately with another fielder to put his team ahead 48-46 and the visitors were never headed.

During the second half St. Benedict hit on 55.5 per cent of its shots and finished at 45 per cent for the game. Hastings' percentage from the field was 31.

McCotter finished with 18 points and Walt Hamlett paced Hastings with 16. Both men were top rebounders.

McCotter fouled out with 1 1/2 minutes to play.

—OFFICIALS GIVE NU ASSURANCE— 'Gotham Bowl To Be Played'

By DON BRYANT
Star Sports Editor

Gotham Bowl officials gave the University of Nebraska assurances Friday that the Dec. 15 game between the Cornhuskers and Miami was in no danger either of cancellation or not being televised.

Bob Curran, executive director of the Gotham Bowl, told NU publicist John Bentley via long distance phone: "I can assure you the game will be televised."

Bentley said Curran reported negotiations were continuing with CBS and that ABC — which had option rights before expiration — was still in the picture.

"Curran said if none of the networks carry the game, he'd set up his own," Bentley reported. "But he indicated that wouldn't be necessary. I understand it was only about 3 days ahead of the game last year that all TV plans were settled."

It was reported in New York that Curran had announced there was "no possible chance the game would be cancelled" because a large deposit already has been made on Yankee Stadium, as well as on space and arrangements for the post-game awards banquet.

The Associated Press reported from New York that Curran said he would try and negotiate with an independent television production firm, Sports Network, if ABC does not take its option.

According to the AP, a CBS spokesman said his network was not interested in handling the game and NBC is televising the Liberty Bowl in Philadelphia the same day.

While Nebraska has not yet signed a contract, it was learned that Gotham officials have notified the school that one is in the mail. Miami, reportedly, accepted the game without a contract.

This would serve to erase any doubts about the game not going on as scheduled, since the Hurricanes turned down a chance to play in the Gator Bowl in order to accept the Gotham bid.

No Band

NU also announced that the Cornhusker marching band would not make the trip to the bowl game.

Cost of flying the band back to New York would have been about $20,000. Also, most of the bandmen are involved in the Messiah production Sunday, Dec. 16, and the New York trip would have meant missing rehearsals plus a hurried exit from New York in order to get back to Lincoln for the traditional Christmas musical presentation.

The Nebraska official party will include just athletic department staff members and wives and players and their wives. The party will not include Regents, unless they pay their own way.

"This is in line with the standard Big 8 policy on bowl trips," Bentley said. "Missouri and Oklahoma will follow the exact same procedure in regard to the official party."

Nebraska's party will fly to New York next Friday in two chartered airliners. The party will number between 120 and 130 people.

Devaney Travels

Meanwhile, on the practice field the Cornhusker gridders continued polishing offense and defense for the important date with Miami.

... PLAINSMEN HOME TONIGHT

Blair—Nebraska Wesleyan had little trouble in picking up its second win of the young season here Friday night, blasting Dana, 91-55, in the first game played in Dana's new Borup Coliseum.

The Plainsmen trailed 1-0 in the first 4 seconds, but then took the lead and were never headed with the biggest margin being the final 36 points.

The two teams played a rugged first half with Dana losing its top scorer in Bob Erickson when the Vikings star sprained his ankle with only 3 minutes gone in the contest.

Wesleyan held only a 38-33 advantage at halftime, but pulled away steadily in the second period to score the impressive victory.

The closest Dana came in the first half after the early moments was the 5-point halftime deficit and they failed to close the gap in the second half.

Eldon Lindquist, a Wesleyan reserve, poured in 4 field goals on 4 attempts in the second half to help the Plainsmen surge.

Chet Paul topped all scorers with 23 points while Don Beckman added 15 for the Plainsmen. Gary Lebeck paced the losers with 10 points.

Wesleyan returns home tonight to meet Westmar of LeMars, Iowa, while Dana plays host to Concordia of Seward in the official dedication of the new coliseum. A preliminary game at the dedication ceremonies will pit Blair High School against Columbus St. Bonaventure.

The win leaves Wesleyan with a 2-0 mark and puts Dana at 1-2 for the season.

Griffith Defends Crown Tonight

Las Vegas, Nev. (H)—A confident appearing Emile Griffith of New York disclosed Friday he has another goal in addition to retaining his world welterweight title Saturday night.

The 23-year-old champion is determined—and a 12-5 favorite—to turn back the challenge of a tough, hard-hitting rival, Jorge Fernandez of Argentina.

This would close out the year with six consecutive victories and, Emile hopes, put him in a strong position to merit "Fighter of the Year" honors.

Beatrice — A group of 4 Beatrice sophomores led by 6-3 junior John Hall, took a 48-47 thriller from Lincoln Southeast Friday night.

Southeast almost broke away early in the 4th quarter when Doug Dworak made a lay-up and within 5 seconds stole the ball to put another one through the net for two more, leaving the Knights in front by 4 points with a 39-point total.

Southeast never managed to leave Beatrice more than 5

Northeast Dumps Kearney In Opener

... DEFENDING STATE CHAMPS WIN, 69-57

Kearney — Lincoln Northeast's defending state basketball champions opened the season on a victorious note by dumping Kearney here Friday night, 69-57.

Paced by the accurate jump shots of forwards Larry Hubka and Jerry Motz, the Rockets used an 8-point spurt in the 3rd period to gain the lead for good in the see-saw contest.

Motz and Hubka each canned 19 points for NE. Stan Grell added 14.

The Rockets held an 18-15 lead after the first quarter with the lead bouncing back and forth throughout the first half.

Kearney poured through a string of 9 straight points in the second stanza. Northeast then retaliated with an 11-point outburst of its own and maintained its margin, 33-30, at the halftime break.

Kearney notched the first 4 points in the 3rd quarter to grab their last lead before the Rockets made their thrust and took command of the game. Northeast's last 11 points came at the free throw line, the result of a desperation Kearney press.

High-point man for the Kearney crew was junior center Steve Eller, who tallied 19.

Only 5 Rockets entered the scoring column.

New York (H)—All-American George Mira, one of the nation's greatest college passers, said Friday he prefers to stay on the ground.

Husker Cagers Face Falcons

... HOME DEBUT TONIGHT

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Writer

With a record of one win and one loss, Coach Jerry Bush's Nebraska cagers will make their 1962-63 home debut tonight against the Air Force Academy, also with a 1-1 mark.

The game will be played at the NU Coliseum under new light bulbs, but a still unpatched ceiling could spring a few leaks if snow or rain falls tonight. The ceiling lights have been replaced with new bulbs and the reflectors have been repainted in an effort to help the lighting situation at the Coliseum.

But workmen repairing the roof have finished only the west side, leaving the east side with a few spots where water can come through.

The Huskers opened the season with a 68-66 upset win over Texas Tech, then dropped a 68-61 decision to Houston after leading most of the way. The Air Force was downed by Wisconsin, 72-64, in its opener, but came back to stomp South Dakota, 79-31, Wednesday night.

"The Air Force is a well-disciplined team with good ball handlers," Bush pointed out. "They use the shuffle which involves constant motion in a set pattern."

The Falcons hit 14 of 18 field goal attempts in the first half against South Dakota for a 77.8 percentage mark and connected on 26 of 46 for the game for 56.5%. They also hit 81.8% from the charity stripe.

"Our scouting report from Bob Gates (freshman coach) indicated that the Air Force was getting layups for most of their shots against South Dakota," Bush said.

"They make up for a lack of overall size with quickness and good ball handling," the Husker coach continued.

Bush named a probable starting lineup which includes Ivan Grupe and Charley Jones at forwards, Bill Vincent at center, with Daryl Petsch teaming with either Earl Wright or Neil Nannen at the guards.

Vincent has been bothered all week by a bad cough but has not missed any of the practice sessions and is expected to be ready to go tonight.

The Falcons are expected to start Roger Head (6-6) at center; Parke Hinman (6-1) and Roger Zoeller (6-2) at forwards; and Jim Diefenderfer (6-0) and John Judd (5-8) at guards.

In the Falcons contest with South Dakota, they held the Coyotes without a field goal

"Holding South Dakota to 31 points indicates the Air Force has a pretty good defense," Bush cautioned.

Cemetery Entitled To Entire Bequest, High Court Says

The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday reversed the Lincoln County District Court and ruled that the Morning View Cemetery Association of Wallace is entitled to the entire bequest left in the will of the late Maria Hughes. Mamie Root and other relatives of the deceased brought the action in district court on the grounds the value of the estate left the association — $260,000 to $270,000 — was excessive in view of the purpose for which it was left. The district court found the association was entitled to $35,000 only.

In her will, Marie Hughes said "I do hereby give, devise and bequeath unto the Morning View Cemetery Association of Wallace . . . all the rest, residue and remainder of my estate, personal property and mixed property. This gift and bequest is in fee simple forever except that it is subject to the payment of all the bequests and devises and payment of costs, taxes . . ."

The Supreme Court said the intent of the will "obviously was to transform this from just a burying ground, and to create in this community for the years to come a place of serene beauty and utility with funds to keep it lastingly so as a resting place for relatives and friends already departed and others who would follow. This intent cannot and should not be defeated or denied on the basis of a mere showing of earlier years of meager expenses of acquisition, maintenance and operation" by the association.

Court OK's Bus Route

Authorization given Black Hills Stage Lines of Norfolk by the Nebraska Railway Commission to operate a bus route in Northern Nebraska was upheld Friday by the Nebraska Supreme Court. The application by Black Hills had been protested before the commission by the Greyhound Corporation of Omaha, Winner Bus Lines of Winner, S.D., Earl Bus Lines of Chadron and United Motor Ways of Grand Island. They carried the case to the Supreme Court on appeal.

Black Hills was authorized to operate buses from Omaha to the South Dakota border by way of Fremont, Norfolk, O'Neill, Valentine and Chadron. This overlaps routes served by the appellant bus companies. They contended the authority granted Black Hills would endanger their operations in that area.

The court noted that travel time between Chadron and Omaha on the Black Hills route would be 10½ hours, as compared with more than 32 hours under schedules of the 4 appealing bus companies. The Supreme Court also found there was a need for service west of O'Neill.

The court concluded "it never was intended that the granting of certificates for local bus service on fragmentary sections of a needed through service should operate as a permanent bar to the providing of such needed service to other sections of the state."

Stolen Property Ruling Affirmed By High Court

The conviction of three Omaha men by the Douglas County District Court on a charge of receiving stolen property was affirmed Friday by the Nebraska Supreme Court.

The men, William S. Henry, John Edward Henry and Donald Lee Johnson, were charged in connection with the theft of 16 television sets from an Omaha furniture store in March 1961.

The court also upheld two criminal convictions by the Scotts Bluff County District Court.

Affirmed was the conviction of Donald P. Easter on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. He was sentenced to from 3 to 5 years in the State Reformatory.

Also reaffirmed was the conviction of John Burton on a charge of indecent fondling of a minor. Burton was given a two year term in the State Penitentiary.

Incest Case Is Reversed

The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday reversed the conviction and 20-year penitentiary sentence given a Grand Island man by a Hall County District Court jury in an incest case.

The man, Duane D. Witmer, was found guilty in district court of having had sexual relations with his 17-year-old daughter. Witmer denied this and pleaded innocent to the charge.

The Supreme Court said there must be corroborative evidence pointing to the guilt of the defendant in this type of case.

"We find the evidence of corroboration to be insufficient to sustain a finding of guilt by a jury beyond a reasonable doubt," the court said in ordering the case dismissed.

Britain Promises:

Won't 'Crash' Way Into EEC

London (UPI) — Britain, increasingly sensitive to European setbacks, made it known Friday it does not intend to "gate-crash" into the community by way of a political deal.

The strong reaction came in response to press reports that Britain had warned the Common Market nations it in effect might have to withdraw its forces from the continent if it is not accepted into Europe.

The Foreign Office flatly denied any such approach to the 6 member nations of the European alignment with which Britain is negotiating terms for admission, so far unsuccessfully.

No Question

A spokesman said there is no question of Britain either threatening the Europeans, or offering them a "bargain."

Britain maintains a force of 50,000 men in Germany as part of its NATO obligations and has complained about the financial burden of this commitment.

NATO and more recently United States leaders in turn have criticized Britain for failing to increase its contribution toward a bigger allied buildup of conventional forces this side of the Iron Curtain.

Other Reports

A press report said Britain has revealed it may have to revise present limited military commitments to the continent if the Common Market nations — notably France — continue to block its entry into the European community.

There have been other recent reports suggesting that Britain may be prepared to offer to share nuclear deterrent with Europe. One was that Britain contemplated an offer to French President Charles de Gaulle for assistance toward his plans for an independent nuclear deterrent as a "deal" to overcome France's opposition to British Common Market membership.

The Foreign Office denied this by implication, saying Britain "at no time contemplated any bargain" involving issues outside the Brussels Common Market negotiations which are so far primarily economic.

CHRISTMAS ARRIVES IN N.Y.

Despite lack of cooperation on the part of the weatherman, Christmas comes officially to New York's Rockefeller Plaza Friday night as decorations are lighted.

The 67-foot Christmas tree in the background, lighted with 7,000 bulbs, stands out against the buildings behind it.

2 Anti-Castro Organizations Cite Caves 'Hiding Missiles'

New York (AP) — Two anti-Castro Cuban organizations Friday named 4 locations in Cuba where they claimed Soviet missiles and aircraft are now hidden in "gigantic caves."

They also quoted Cuban sources as saying that 15,000 Soviet troops are stationed on the island.

(U.S. intelligence sources have estimated that 9,000 to 15,000 Soviet troops are in Cuba.)

The claims were made by the Second National Front of Escambray and Alpha 66, two organizations which said they had formed a military pact a month ago.

Speaking for the groups at a news conference here, Dr. Armando Fleites, general secretary of the National Front, pinpointed on a map 3 coastal caves where he said missiles were stored: in the town of Camarioca in the Matanzas province, in Nuevitas in Camaguey province and Trinidad in Los Villas province.

Bombers Housed

He said Soviet bombers were housed in underground hangars in San Julian in Pinar del Rio province.

Fleites said that the National Front and Alpha 66 were responsible for the commando-type raid last Tuesday at Juan Francisco beach on the north coast of Los Villas province.

Fleites said the raiders, whose strength he would not disclose, saw more than 20 Soviet soldiers wearing Cuban militia uniforms. They also saw Soviet gun emplacements, Soviet barbed wire and Soviet concrete barriers, he said.

Held Town

The raiders held the town of Juan Francisco for an hour and withdrew without a single casualty after placing explosives, Fleites said.

Fleites said that a letter had been sent to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant informing him of the groups' part in the raid that the information on underground missile sites and hangars had been turned over to the U.S. government for its information.

He also declared that the raiders did not operate from American soil and have no intention of doing so. He declined to name the origin of the raids.

Veil Drawn On Travels Of Painting

Washington (UPI) — The French embassy Friday night made a gallant effort to draw a veil of mystery around the travels of "Mona Lisa," the painting of the lady with the mysterious smile.

An embassy spokesman said Friday afternoon that the famous Leonardo da Vinci painting would be lent to the United States and probably go on display in January at the National Gallery of Art here.

But Friday night, the embassy issued a statement saying, "Contrary to some information given about the decision of the French government to lend the Mona Lisa to the United States, the French embassy declares that no such decision has been made. The question is now under consideration in Paris."

Reports of the French government's unannounced, but apparently fairly definite decision to let the painting out of the Louvre, has caused a national storm in France.

Acheson Speech Concerns JFK

Washington (AP) — President Kennedy was reported Friday night to be concerned about the possible effect on British public opinion of Dean Acheson's assessment of British world status.

High officials reported the President is worried by the indignation stirred up in London by a speech the former secretary of state made Wednesday at the West Point Military Academy.

Kennedy, informants said, feels strongly that the ties between this nation and Britain are not based on whether the United Kingdom is a great power — a question raised by Acheson — but on tradition and on community of interest.

Recent international developments, such as the Cuban crisis and the Red Chinese invasion of India, are examples of the strong link between Washington and London, the sources said.

Kennedy, they added, fully appreciates the British government's prompt and complete backing of his Cuban policy. And he is convinced also that only unrestricted U.S.-British cooperation made possible the success of the recent mission to India by W. Averell Harriman, assistant secretary of state.

The President, it was learned, was in daily telephone contact with Prime Minister Macmillan during the critical days of the Cuban crisis. It appears safe to assume that the two leaders talked to each other again after the uproar in London about the Acheson speech.

Acheson took the position Friday that some of the criticism comes from persons who have not read the full text.

Informants said Kennedy's concern does not indicate any condemnation of the former secretary's speech, as a whole.

They said Kennedy believes the speech was important and interesting, but what he regrets is that some parts of it were picked out by those who now react to it so vehemently.

Post Article About Adlai Is Defended

Caracas, Venezuela (AP) — Stewart Alsop defended Friday the accuracy of the magazine article declaring Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador and chief delegate to the United Nations, disagreed with President Kennedy on the Cuban arms blockade.

Alsop, Washington editor of the Saturday Evening Post, refused to comment on sources for the story he and Charles Bartlett, Washington correspondent for the Chattanooga Times, wrote for the magazine.

The article said Stevenson "preferred political negotiation to the alternative of military action" and favored trading U.S. missile bases in Turkey, Italy and Britain for dismantling of Soviet missile installations in Cuba.

The magazine editor is on a Caribbean newsgathering tour.

Stevenson said the article "grossly misrepresented my views" on Cuba. The President also voiced "fullest confidence" in the ambassador in an attempt to quiet speculation that Stevenson was on his way out.

Tenure Resolution Given To NSEA

... Would Widen Teacher Coverage

By GERRY WRIGHT
Star Staff Writer

Three additional resolutions including one which would extend tenure to teachers in all school districts which maintain high schools were proposed at the opening session Friday of the Nebraska State Education Assn. Delegate Assembly.

The tenure resolution provides that the NSEA attempt to secure enactment of legislation which will extend the provisions of the permanent tenure law to teachers in Class III schools who hold a certificate issued on the baccalaureate degree or its equivalent.

Only Class IV and V schools (Omaha and Lincoln) are now covered by the permanent tenure law.

The resolution states that it is believed "permanent tenure eliminates arbitrary and unjustified dismissal of teachers."

Other new resolutions introduced Friday included one urging that the NSEA seek group advantages from medical insurance on the basis of NSEA membership.

The third additional resolution sets forth that the NSEA propose and support legislation permitting Class II and Class III school districts to levy tax not to exceed 5 mills on the assessed valuation of the district for building construction.

The 3 new resolutions are in addition to 16 submitted to the governing body of the state teacher organization by study commissions.

Action Due Saturday

The delegates will debate and take action on all 19 resolutions Saturday, including state and federal aid to education, a broadened tax base, school district reorganization into a K-12 district plan, teacher certification, competence and retirement.

The commission on professional relations and teachers services recommended for delegate action that the NSEA favor the following minimum annual salaries for teachers: —$4,000 for any qualified Nebraska teacher.

—$5,000 for any Nebraska teacher who holds a baccalaureate degree or its equivalent.

—$5,500 for any Nebraska teacher who holds a master's degree or its equivalent.

However, it was emphasized that the salary recommendations were to remain recommendations and not laws because oftentimes salaries set forth in law become maximums and it is "desirable to have salary tangible with economy of the times."

Retirement Changes

The commission also recommended changes in the teacher retirement program which would bring pension plus social security of teachers covered for 30 or more years to half the annual salary during the teacher's 5 highest-salary years of teaching.

It would necessitate larger contribution by both the teacher and the state and such contribution would be based on a percentage of the total annual salary with the percentage increasing with the age of the teacher.

Announcement of new NSEA officers will climax the annual assembly session. Candidates for president are Kenneth Hansen, principal of Omaha Westside High School, and Dr. Philip S. Holmgren, faculty member of Kearney State Teachers College.

Maxine Allard, elementary principal at Valentine, and C. J. Sutherland, superintendent at Wauwata, are vice-presidential nominees.

Police Advise Danger Time Is Beginning

With traffic accident fatalities nearing the record and a "danger season" beginning, Lincoln police are asking special care by drivers.

The highest number of traffic deaths on Lincoln streets was recorded in 1947, when 11 people were killed. So far in 1962 10 people have been killed in Lincoln, 3 of them pedestrians.

Lt. Mel Dorn, of the traffic division, pointed out that December is the month when everyone is shopping for Christmas gifts. People running to and fro on downtown streets, along with the increased number of drivers in the downtown area, create traffic hazards.

Snow and ice also hinder shoppers and drivers.

During December of 1961, two pedestrians were killed in Lincoln.

Chief of Police Joseph T. Carroll urges the people of Lincoln to "stop this needless slaughter". Make this Christmas a happy holiday, not one of sorrow.

Morrison Announces 3 New Appointments

Governor Morrison Friday announced 3 executive appointments.

They are:

—Kathleen Stack, Grand Island, 4-year term on Board of Nursing, beginning Dec. 1. (reappointment)

—State Sen. Richard D. Marvel, Hastings, 5-year term on Veterans' Advisory Commission. (reappointment)

—Floyd E. Wright, Scottsbluff, to fill vacancy in Nebraska Public Library Commission created by resignation of Thomas E. Adams, Beatrice, for term ending June 8, 1963.

Police Seek Two Men In Strange Slayings

Boston (AP) — A statewide alert was out Friday night for two men sought in connection with the seventh in a series of stranglings of women — in 7 months.

The latest victim was 19-year-old Sophie Clark of Englewood, N.J., studying medical and hospital technology in Boston. She was found dead — nude except for her brassiere — with stockings and petticoat knotted around her throat. The screams of one of two girls who shared the Back Bay apartment just before 6 p.m., Wednesday night, resulted in the emergency calling of police to the Huntington Avenue apartment house.

It was less than a block from the scene of the first of the stranglings last June 14.

There had been 6 strange slayings from June through August.

The lapse of 3 months suggested to investigators that the perpetrator might have been out of Boston — or locked up on another charge — since the end of August.

Police said one situation has changed since the summer stranglings: for the first time they had firm eye-witness descriptions of suspects. Related discoveries of the earlier slayings had led to vague descriptions of clues and descriptions.

Sophie Clark had been dead only a short time before her horrified apartment-mate ran into the corridor screaming.

One of the two men detectives said had been in the apartment house the day of the killing was a 22-year-old man with a police record of breaking and entering, of emotional trouble, and a medical discharge from armed service. His minister father said his son's behavior led him to order him from their home months ago.

The second was a man of medium build and 5 feet 9 or 10, hair honey-colored, head round, eyes pale gray.

He had called at the apartment of another woman tenant. It was an apartment house where the residents were mostly strangers to one another, where even the superintendent did not know Sophie lived there — because her roommates hired the apartment.

The caller told the woman he had come to do some painting in her apartment. He gave the name Thompson.

"I was scared," she told an interviewer Friday. "There was something strange about him."

Once inside the apartment door, she said, "He began asking me if I had ever done any modeling."

"I was alone, but I told him not to talk so loud because he'd wake up my husband in the next room. When I said that he looked startled and said, 'You mean you're not alone?'"

He mumbled something about having the wrong apartment and fled out the door.

Police did not overlook the fact that all the previous strangling victims had been older women and that — not far from the apartment he entered — was one occupied by a widow of 75.

Santiago, Chile (AP) — A former Nazi SS (Elite Guard) colonel admitted Friday he was in charge of Nazi gas vans in which 90,000 Jews were executed during World War II — but claimed "I was only a desk colonel."

The former Nazi officer, Walter Herman Julius Rauff, is fighting extradition to West Germany for trial after being picked up in southern Chile, where he was a prosperous businessman.

Chief Justice Rafael Fontecillas of the Supreme Court, who will rule on whether to hand him over to German authorities, said Rauff disclaimed responsibility for any killings and pleaded:

"I signed papers brought to me but I never ordered or witnessed any killing of Jews."

Official sources said Rauff was Nazi military chief in Italy in 1944-1945 when the war ended and was held for a time in an allied detention camp near Rome, but escaped. He fled to Syria, later went to Ecuador and entered Chile under his own name in 1958.

Justice Fontecillas said special precautions are being taken to protect Rauff's life because of reports "some groups" may try to kill him. The judge did not identify the groups.

2 OAS Leaders Are Transferred To Luxury Prison

Paris (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle Friday transferred Secret Army Organization (OAS) leaders Raul Salan and Edmond Jouhaud to luxurious Tulle Prison, establishing it as a detention center for those who opposed his Algerian policies.

The strongly guarded prison, one of the most modern in France, now holds 8 former generals, including 4 who staged an abortive revolt in Algiers in April last year, 3 former colonels and 3 former majors.

The prison is also one of the most comfortable. The former generals are entitled to 3-room apartments but are expected to get only two rooms. They can receive relatives or close friends and have television and radio sets. Cell doors are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. There are sports facilities and a gymnasium and the Algerian group will be served by prisoners who committed common law crimes.

U.S., British Jointly Test Atom Device

Washington (UPI) — The United States and Great Britain jointly tested a British nuclear device underground in Nevada Friday, the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission announced here.

It was the second such experiment carried out at the Nevada site under the agreement for cooperation on the uses of atomic energy for mutual defense purposes, in effect since Aug. 4, 1958.

The device was of low yield, or the equivalent of less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

"A British nuclear device of low yield was tested underground at the Nevada test site March 1, 1962, under a similar arrangement," the AEC announcement said.

Nina II Is 1,200 Miles From Its Destination

New York (AP)—Nina II, attempting to duplicate Columbus' 1492 voyage from Spain to San Salvador, was reported Friday 1,200 miles east southeast of its destination.

A Navy plane sighted the 39-foot replica of Columbus' third caravel. It reported all of the 9 crewmen appeared well and in good spirits and that the ship had a 20-day supply of water.

The Nina has been at sea for more than two months. It has no engine, radio or other modern equipment.

Stock Market Closes Mixed

New York (AP) — Showing scattered strength and weakness, the stock market moved through a scrambled session Friday as trading slowed. The day marked the end of the sixth straight week of general advance.

Specially situated issues provided the highlights of the mixed performance in which group movements played little part. A late rally by the savings-and-loan holding companies and a general decline by the aerospace issues were the exceptions.

Biggest feature of the day was Douglas Aircraft, the most active stock, which plunged 3 1/2 to 31 on 122,000 shares. Douglas was delayed in opening due to an accumulation of sell orders following publication of reports that the Skybolt missile, for which it is prime contractor, may be discarded.

The savings-and-loan obtained a renewed following, brokers said, due to the oversubscription of a secondary offering of San Diego Imperial which advanced gained 3 1/2 to 62 1/2. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks ended 3 at 242 1/2, with industrials up 3, rails off 2, and utilities up 5.

Of 1,300 shares traded, 604 advanced and 442 declined. New highs for the year totaled 22. The two new lows were Great Northern Iron and Heinz Preferred. Volume continued its decline from Wednesday's 8-million shares and topped 3.9 million compared with 4.6 million Thursday.

The list of 16 most active issues mirrored the irregular trend, producing nine gainers to seven losers.
Prices were irregularly lower on the American Stock Exchange as volume slipped to 1.16 million shares from 1.3 million Thursday.
Corporate bonds declined in slow trading. U.S. government bonds were unchanged to higher.

GOP Assault On South Wins Approval

Washington (AP)—Chairman William E. Miller won the Republican National Committee's applauding approval Friday for a planned massive 1964 GOP assault on Democratic strongholds in the segregationist South.

But among the 126 national committee members and state chairmen assembled here for a two-day post-mortem on the November election, there were some who expressed doubts that the party would help its presidential cause if it fields Dixie candidates—as it did this year — as it fly the anti-civil rights banner.

Miller, who expects to stay on the job for another two years, was applauded when he told committee members not to be "misled or dismayed by those who are trying to give Northern Republicans a guilt complex over our Southern inroads."

No Apology
He listed as inroads the election of 11 House members from Dixie.

"Our successes in the South need no apology," he said. "They are the product of hard and intelligent efforts on the part of people dedicated to the Republican principle of freedom and sound government."

Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the Republican Congressional campaign committee, said the Republicans won their House seats in the South without "trying to outsegregate the Democrats."

He attributed the Republicans' victories to what he called economic conservatism, fiscal responsibility, and individual freedom over paternalism.

Backs Plan

Wilson backed Miller's plan to put Republican candidates into all Congressional races in the South in 1964. He spoke at a luncheon meeting of the national committee.

Miller stood beside a screen on which was projected a montage of newspaper headlines reporting the complaints of some influential party members that by wooing the South the GOP may be jeopardizing its appeal in the big industrial states where the electoral vote is heavy.

Some Republicans obviously doubted the feasibility of Miller's announced drive to enter GOP candidates in every Congressional district in the South. There were 57 such districts this year which the Democrats won by default.

While most of the national committee members agreed this is a laudable goal, some of them said in separate interviews that the party must be careful to preserve its position of strong support for civil rights.

George L. Hinman, New York committeeman, said he thinks Republicans have to be tolerant of sectional differences. But he said he is confident New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will be the GOP presidential nominee and will "go down the line" for a strong civil rights declaration in the platform.

Macmillan Rebukes Acheson For Downgrading Britain

London (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan publicly rebuked Dean Acheson Friday for asserting Britain has about played out its role as an independent power.

Macmillan released the text of a letter to a former cabinet colleague, Lord Chandos, who asked that Macmillan seek an official disavowal from the United States before he flies to meet President Kennedy in the Bahamas Dec. 19.

In his reply the prime minister did not answer that point but observed cuttingly:

"Insofar as he appeared to denigrate the resolution and the will of Britain and the British people, Mr. Acheson has fallen into an error which has been made by quite a lot of people in the course of the last 400 years, including Philip of Spain, Louis XIV, Napoleon, the Kaiser and Hitler."

The former secretary of state, an occasional adviser of the President on inter-allied policies, voiced his opinions in West Point, N.Y., Wednesday while discussing Europe in general.

One remark that stung British newspapers and diplomats more, perhaps, than any other was his suggestion that West Germany is a steadier ally for Americans than other Europeans.

Sees Pink People

Alicante, Spain (UPI)—An elephant saw pink people here. Officials of a traveling circus said the 5-ton beast broke into a storeroom and dunked its trunk in a barrel containing 25 gallons of rum. The elephant got merry and quite contrary, and developed a elephantine hangover.
